CAMP MEN OUT OF REGINA TO-MORROW

Four Drown As Fish Boat Burns Off Coast of B.C.

In Addition to Those Drowned Three Suffer Painful Burns When Bantary Bay Destroyed at Half Moon Bay, 40 Miles North of Vancouver

C. Peterson And Three Others Perish

Canadian Press
Vancouver, July 3.—Four members of the crew of the Vancouver fishing boat Bantary Bay were drowned and three others suffered painful burns when the boat caught fire off the Wood Bay relief camp near Half Moon Bay, about forty miles north of here, it was learned in a dispatch to the British Columbia provincial police to-day.

The Bantary Bay, a fifty-foot seiner, caught fire as she was proceeding north to a cannery, and the seven men on board fought the flames without success.

Details of the tragedy have not been received, but it is thought the four who lost their lives were drowned when they put over a dory. The sea was rough and a strong westerly wind was blowing.

The four who lost their lives were Carl Peterson, Harry Johnson, Jonas Webb and Harry Palkin, eleven, stepson of Captain Oram.

William Oram, Vancouver, owner of the vessel, suffered burns about the face and hands.

Those who escaped with him are James McKinley and James Thom.

The three injured were taken to the Pender Harbor Hospital and will be brought to Vancouver by steamship.

A. G. CITROEN DIES IN PARIS

Grief Over Auto Factory Difficulties, Hastens End

Associated Press
Paris, July 3.—Andre Gustave Citroen, fifty-seven, the "Henry Ford of France," weakened by grief over the difficulties of his business, died in a hospital to-day after a lingering illness.

Citroen's vast automobile plant, which was once estimated to be worth 2,000,000,000 francs, was forced into a receivership December 31, 1934, and its founder was finally forced out of any active management of his companies.

The short dapper engineer tried to remain as a technical adviser, but a financial investigation by auditors aroused such opposition from stockholders and creditors Citroen finally disappeared.

Mourning over the recent death of a daughter, as well as distress over his business, weakened his resistance before he could be operated on.

Andre Gustave Citroen, whose automobiles made his name famous on every highway and byway of France, was an engineer by preference and a financier only through necessity.

NEW LINERS SOON FOR C.P.R. FLEET

Canadian Press
Glasgow, July 3.—The Canadian Pacific Steamships will replace its liners of the older type lately discarded, Sir Edward W. Beatty, chairman of the C.P.R., said to-day on the occasion of his inspection of the giant new Cunarder, Queen Mary, now building. He was non-committal on the date for the new orders.

SUDDEN DEATH OF PIONEER

Chas. N. Cameron, Resident Here Since 1858, Died To-day

Victoria lost an interesting link with Crown Colony days in the death this morning of Charles Napier Cameron, who passed away suddenly at his home, 447 Kingston Street, in his eighty-first year.

Mr. Cameron was born in Calaveras County, California, his parents, the late Duncan and Jessie Cameron, being Scottish Canadians. He came to this city with his parents in 1858, and had resided here ever since.

For many years Mr. Cameron was in the clothing business here with his brother, the late W. G. Cameron, former alderman and member of the City Hall staff, who predeceased him some years ago. Later Mr. Cameron was in the automobile repair business with his son, C. W. Cameron. The late Agnes Deans Cameron, the late teacher, was a sister of his.

Mr. Cameron is survived by his widow, at the family residence; four daughters, Mrs. R. Criswell, Los Angeles; Mrs. G. Christian, and Mrs. C. D. Orchard, Victoria; and Mrs. D. L. Darling, Vancouver; three sons, Robert Cameron, Vancouver; C. G. Cameron, Nanaimo; and C. W. Cameron, Victoria; also two sisters, Miss Jessie Cameron and Mrs. R. A. Brown, Victoria.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

NAVAL MOVE

Canadian Press from Havas
Rome, July 3.—Premier Benito Mussolini to-day called in extraordinary session the Navy War Council of admirals for an important conference on the Italian fleet.

The move caused speculation. Some observers linked it to navy problems raised by the European situation.

In other quarters the belief was expressed the step would be another phase of the mobilization for what has come to be called Premier Mussolini's "Ethiopian adventure."

DOUG FAIRBANKS

Doug Visits Men On Rennel Island Who Get Wives For Pigs

Movie Actor Reaches Victoria To-day After Trip in South Seas; Leaves By Plane For Hollywood; Lady Sylvia Ashley in Party

Doug Fairbanks arrived here to-day aboard the Ss. Empress of Canada from a five months' tour of exploration and film-taking in the South Sea Islands made by himself and a party of friends, including Lady Sylvia Ashley of London, Eng., aboard the Fairbanks yacht Caroline.

Both Doug and Lady Sylvia left the Empress of Canada here, Doug left at noon by a chartered seaplane for Seattle, from where he was due to leave by the regular 3 o'clock passenger southbound passenger plane to arrive in Hollywood before midnight. Lady Sylvia took a suite at the Empress Hotel. She said she planned to stay here for a week to go fishing in some of the up-island rivers. Doug drove with her to the hotel, where they had breakfast.

COMES FOR FILM MEETING

Doug said his trip in the South Seas had been cut short, and he had hurried across the Pacific to attend the special meeting in Hollywood of the United Artists Company, of which he, Mary Pickford, Charlie Chaplin and Samuel Goldwyn are the owners. This meeting has to do with reorganization and extension of its operations, with the Twentieth Century Productions going out, and the Selznick Company coming in with a larger number of pictures. United Artists also holds some British and other foreign controls on an interlocking basis.

Just how long he would be in Hollywood, Doug said he did not know. He would return very shortly to the Orient, however, to launch a large producing affiliation in Tokyo. He said Japan is going in for pictures in a big way, with Japanese actors speaking English lines.

"The actually learn English that way," he went on. "You see the Japanese in their theatres following in boots the lines which the actors are speaking from the films."

Naples, July 3.—Mount Vesuvius erupted with a tremendous explosion early to-day, blowing a piece of its cone from the crater high into the air. Naples residents were alarmed, but the Vesuvius observatory issued a statement minimizing danger of the eruption. Lava flowed copiously from two apertures opened in the cone by the explosion.

BOAT DISABLED OFF FOUL BAY

Lifeboats Stand By as Repairs Made to Forty-foot Craft Orlamah

Lifeboats from Foul Bay and Clover Point this morning demonstrated their usefulness when the Orlamah, forty-foot pleasure yacht, owned by P. W. Rawson, 551 Niagara Street, encountered engine trouble.

About 5.15 o'clock waterfront residents near the foot of Robertson Street were aroused by yells from Mr. Rawson aboard his craft, Orlamah.

Some of the first awakened were Eric and Hazel Ledson, 1902 Hollywood Crescent, who were sleeping on the porch of their home overlooking the water. They aroused the remainder of the family and Leslie Ledson, with Albert Bevan, launched the lifeboat from Foul Bay.

In the meantime Jack Rennie, Quimper Street, had also heard the yells and with Constable Harry Douglass of the Oak Bay Police, also responded. They reached the disabled craft shortly before the lifeboat.

While Mr. Rennie assisted Mr. Rawson with the engine the lifeboat manned by Ledson and Bevan stood by and a second lifeboat from Clover Point pulled out with a crew of four.

Despite a choppy sea and a fair southwest wind the Clover Point boat made good time and was soon alongside the Orlamah, which was between a quarter and half a mile off shore.

The engine trouble was soon repaired although not before the Orlamah had drifted onto a rock and been holed. She was taken into Foul Bay where repairs to the hull were made and she was towed to the Inner Harbor.

Butchart's Home For Many Birds

Thirty-one Types of Wild Species Noted in Famous Gardens by Visitor

Long known as one of the beauty spots of the continent with their man-assisted natural loveliness, Butchart's Gardens have a new claim to fame. That claim lies in the number of varieties of bird life that fit among the flowers, trees, shrubs, over the ponds and lawns and along the paths.

Late last week a bird lover visited the gardens and, apart from the species in the spacious aviaries, noted thirty-one types of wild birds.

The included robins, violet green swallows, warblers, white crown sparrows, yellow warblers, crows, English sparrows, chipping sparrows, house wrens, northwest flickers, meadow larks, skylarks, ring neck pheasants, barn swallows, California quail, blue heron, Seattle wren, russet back thrush, tuescent warbler, McGillivray warbler, pileolated warbler, willow goldfinch, western flycatcher, song sparrow, humming bird, cedar waxwing, hermit warbler, kingfisher, Pacific night hawk and western tanager.

MINIMUM PRICE FOR WHEAT IS PLANNED

Bill Before Commons Calls For New Board to Handle Grain Regular Trade Does Not Take

Ottawa, July 3.—The government's grain board legislation, trimmed and altered in a somewhat stormy passage through the special committee, will probably make its reappearance in the House of Commons to-day.

After two days of private sitting, following almost a fortnight of public hearings, the committee yesterday evening stood ready to report.

A redrafted bill will be presented to the House by Prime Minister R. B. Bennett in his capacity as chairman of the special committee. It will provide for a fixed minimum price to the producer of wheat in the four western provinces. It will establish a body to be known as "the Canadian Wheat Board" to take all wheat from the producers which the regular trade does not or will not take.

It will confer on the board exclusive marketing powers, which may be invoked by proclamation.

MAY BE EXTENDED
The new bill deals only with wheat, but the government may by order-in-council extend its provision to other grains. The original bill provided for a board which would have complete control of all elevators and of the export marketing of all grains grown in the prairie provinces.

Saskatchewan Cabinet Arranges For Special Train To Come West

Men Will Disembark At Points Nearest Home; Premier Gardiner Says Trek Is Now Ended "Unless Someone Throws Monkey Wrench Into The Arrangements"; Men Fed To-day by Saskatchewan Government; Lengthy Debate on Regina Riots in Commons

STEVENS URGES PUBLIC WORKS

Ottawa, July 3.—Disturbances at Regina hovered in the background to-day as Parliament speeded up debate to bring its session to an early end.

Yesterday's sitting was devoted almost entirely to a review of the clash at Regina on Monday night, when one Regina city policeman lost his life and two R.C.M.P. men were gravely injured.

Highlights of the debate were:

Hon. H. H. Stevens, former Minister of Trade and Commerce, declared that in his judgment the striking relief campers were not "a bunch of scallawags or destructive individuals impelled by seditious influences. I think most of them are splendid young fellows."

Mr. H. W. L. Mackenzie King, Liberal leader, said he believed "this matter is entirely too serious not to be cleared up before this Parliament prorogues."

CREATES COMMUNISM
Miss Agnes MacPhail, Canada's only woman M.P., said it was plain to her the Prime Minister "has done more to create Communism than any ten men in Canada, and that includes Tim Buck, Collins, Evans and all the rest."

STEVENS'S SUGGESTION
A vast reconstruction programme of road-building, housing, and reforestation was urged by Hon. H. H. Stevens. The 20,000 men in relief camps could be put to work at a decent wage of fifty cents an hour.

Under the Stevens proposal, if (Turn to Page 2, Col. 4)

B.C. ASKED TO HANDLE RELIEF

Commission to Administer Vancouver Problem Proposed to Government

The provincial government was asked by Mayor G. G. McGeer to-day to administer relief by an independent commission in Vancouver and charge the city back with its fair share of the cost.

In an interview with Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Labor, Mayor McGeer and Alderman W. W. Smith proposed this move to take relief administration "out of politics" in Vancouver.

The minister, said the mayor afterwards, did not commit himself on this proposal but said if it was recommended by the Vancouver council, would receive consideration of the provincial executive. The minister, he added, appeared sympathetic to the city setting up a commission of its own to handle relief and said the province would co-operate with such a body.

At the same time Mayor McGeer discussed with the governments his public works plan financed by the sale of baby bonds. It was agreed, he said, that $300,000, one-fifth of the money raised, would be allocated to direct relief work. It will be used to employ men who are now on relief and who will be required to work for their allowance.

The rest of the $1,500,000 will be used on regular public works, done by contract at standard wages.

NEW TRADE TREATY

Canadian Press
Ottawa, July 3.—Premier R. B. Bennett announced in the House of Commons to-day a trade treaty had been signed between Canada and Poland. He tabled a copy.

More Arrests Made At Regina

Police Action To-day Adds to Men Held For Riot Hearings

Canadian Press
Regina, July 3.—Additional arrests were being made in Regina to-day as result of the rioting here Monday night, and approximately 1,500 relief camp strikers were still quartered at the Exhibition Grounds under guard of Royal Canadian Mounted Police with rifles.

How many arrests were made to-day was indefinite, but up to last midnight approximately 100 had been taken into custody by both R.C.M.P. and city police. The majority were charged with vagrancy, but others faced charges of unlawful assembly, rioting, carrying concealed weapons and assault.

Some of the men at the stadium to-day tossed a baseball around for amusement, while others took sun baths lying against the side of the building.

Registration of the approximate 1,500 strikers now at the stadium in the Exhibition Grounds, was underway and the special train, said the Premier, probably would leave Regina some time to-morrow.

The train will follow the route over which the strikers rode freight train into Regina June 14. The strikers will leave the train as it passes through the points where their homes are located.

In cases where the men have no home to go to, they will leave the train at points closest to the relief camps where they had been located. Most of the men are from British Columbia, Alberta and Saskatchewan. Those from the eastern provinces would be provided with transportation to their home towns, Premier Gardiner explained.

Questioned if it could be said the arrangement definitely marked the end of the On-to-Ottawa trek, Premier Gardiner said it did "unless someone throws a monkey-wrench into the arrangements."

The strikers still at the stadium are being fed by the Saskatchewan government. The first meal was provided yesterday after the men had been without food for twenty-four hours. The strikers had been buying their own food while their money, collected through tag days, lasted. Some of the strikers have gone to the federal camp at Lumsden, thirty miles north of here, and others have succeeded in leaving the city aboard westbound freight trains.

McGeer Replies To Bennett Statement

Charges Prime Minister With Endeavoring to Rule With Iron Heel; Denies Charge of Leading Relief Parade and Encouraging Disturbances

Mayor G. G. McGeer of Vancouver, here to-day to see the provincial government on relief matters, issued a hot rejoinder to Premier Bennett's statement in the House of Commons to the effect that government authorities here had encouraged disturbances.

In his reply, Mayor McGeer charged Premier Bennett with attempting to rule by "the iron heel of ruthless oppression," and said the blood already spilled in the relief riots "will forever remain upon the head of the Prime Minister."

Mayor McGeer's full statement follows:

"The statement made by Mr. Bennett that I led a parade of relief camp strikers one day and that the police led them in parade in Vancouver another day is untrue. Unfortunately Mr. Bennett goes further, and declares that governments have used their authority to encourage disturbances. Mr. Bennett no doubt has in mind the governments of the western provinces."

MEN REGISTER THIS AFTERNOON

By SAM G. ROSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Regina, July 3.—Saskatchewan Government proposals for disbanding have been accepted by the striking relief camp workers, and arrangements are being made for a special train to carry the men westward to their homes or relief camps, it was announced at a press conference by Premier J. G. Gardiner of Saskatchewan this afternoon.

Registration of the approximate 1,500 strikers now at the stadium in the Exhibition Grounds, was underway and the special train, said the Premier, probably would leave Regina some time to-morrow.

The train will follow the route over which the strikers rode freight train into Regina June 14. The strikers will leave the train as it passes through the points where their homes are located.

VALCARTIER STRIKE TO-DAY

Relief Men Decide to Continue With Demands For Changes

Canadian Press
Valcartier, Que., July 3.—A meeting of striking government concentration camp men here to-day decided by a majority vote to continue the strike they began yesterday on demands for $1 a day pay, better food, better working conditions, and a grievance committee to hear their troubles.

Leaders of the 1,900 men who walked off their jobs on the arsenal construction, the quarry, and pits, and lumber shops yesterday, to-day told Major Percy Flynn, officer in charge, the majority of the men had voted to continue the strike.

There were no disorders, however, and the strikers left a skeleton crew working to maintain camp services. Camp policemen, recruited from among the men, continued their duties.

At the request of strike leaders, the canteen remained closed to-day to guard against possible disturbances. No provincial police were near the camp.

NEW MOVE IS NON-PARTIZAN

British Papers Give Mixed Reception to Lloyd George's Council of Action

Associated Press

London, July 3.—Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George, the "Welsh Wizard" of politics, stepped back into the headlines to-day, returning to action as a strictly non-party man.

Some quarters asserted, however, that the wartime Prime Minister was using his own name in an address yesterday to his newly-formed Council of Action for Peace and Reconstruction, taking issue with opponents of his "New Deal."

The London Times said: "When it comes to a choice of architects for rebuilding Britain, most people of balance will prefer the record of achievement and promise of new efforts outlined by Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin to the prospect of another memorandum of Lloyd George."

AN EXPERIMENT
The London News-Chronicle hailed the formation of the National Council as "an experiment in political technique," and urged its readers to give it momentum.

The London Morning Post, under the headline "The Double Deal," described the speech as an appeal to ignorance and prejudice.

The former Prime Minister himself, citing "powerful interests" fighting the United States New Deal as illustrative of the opposition his own programme must face, marked his "reluctant" return to politics by asserting "as far as I am concerned, I mean to go on with it."

By GEORGE HAMILTON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, July 3.—The national convention of the Council of Action for Peace and Reconstruction voted yesterday to take immediate steps toward organizing a non-partisan movement. The action followed a vigorous address by Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George, wartime Prime Minister, who insisted he had no desire to leave the fragrance of his orchards for the arid atmosphere of political controversy. He insisted the new movement was inspired by no partisan spirit, but his call was a call to resolute action.

"If you want to stop that," he exclaimed as he told the story of mounting armaments, "it is no use passing resolutions. It is no use calling conventions. You must act."

Organize action, he demanded. "Unless you act," he continued, "that the parliament chosen at the next election will give effect to the policy you approve, then your sacrifice has been in vain."

ARMAMENT OUTLAYS
The prospects of peace were worse than ten years ago. World expenditure on armaments had increased during that period from $700,000,000 to $1,000,000,000 next year.

In Great Britain alone armaments expenditures had increased over $20,000,000 in three years. Commitments would add another $20,000,000 in the next two or three years, and this $40,000,000 additional expenditure would have financed a loan of $1,200,000,000 for reconstruction.

SUBMARINE REPORT
"I have been told," he proceeded with reference to the Anglo-German naval conversations, "that Germany offered to abolish the submarine altogether and we were not prepared to accept it. Is that true? I hope something may be said to say that report is not correct because it seems to me incredible."

He asserted golden opportunity had been missed when Germany was disarmed under the Versailles Treaty. In 1928 Germany had no airplanes, no submarines, no great guns, no tanks, no poison gas. "We had promised to bring down our armaments, but we made them more powerful year by year. The result was a re-armed Germany."

Canadian Press
London, July 3.—The British government has met the submarine charge of Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George with a point blank denial.

Before the Council of Action for Peace and Reconstruction yesterday Mr. Lloyd George put the rhetorical question, asking whether it was true that in the Anglo-German conversations the Germans had offered to abolish submarines but that Great Britain had refused to agree as other nations were unwilling.

At the close of question hour in the Commons to-day, a Conservative member asked whether Mr. Lloyd George's statement was correct. Mr. Lloyd George was not present at the time.

NOT SHARED BY OTHERS
Sir Bolton Eyres-Monsell, First Lord of the Admiralty replied: "As stated by the German Chancellor on May 21, Germany was ready to abolish submarines provided other nations did the same. Her willingness to do so was reaffirmed by a German representative at the recent conversations. As is well known, this country long ago took the lead in endeavoring to secure a general agreement on the abolition of submarines."

The German representatives were reminded of our view, which had not changed. Unfortunately it is not shared by other countries.

"It must be clear, therefore, the reported statement of Mr. Lloyd George at the Peace and Reconstruction Conference yesterday is absolutely without foundation."

SUIT FOR $10,500
Minneapolis, July 3 (Associated Press)—James Hugo of Minneapolis to-day brought suit for $10,500 against Frank A. Anderson, hotel proprietor, charging he was permanently disabled by the bite of a black widow spider in Anderson's Hotel, May 15, 1934.

Outlaws Rob Man, Then Flee

Canadian Press
Vancouver, July 3.—Two armed men held up Charles Gustafson on East Hastings Street in Burnaby early yesterday and robbed him of $400. Gustafson was covered with revolver and ordered to hold up his hands while one man searched him and took his money. The men then ordered him to proceed on his way and, as he started to walk off, they fled between two buildings.

Herriot Opposes New Left Wing

Ex-Premier Against Formation of Strong Red-tinted Bloc in French Chamber

Associated Press
Paris, July 3.—Former Premier Edouard Herriot threatened to-day to resign his presidency of the powerful Radical Socialist Party in a fight to prevent formation of a strong red-tinted bloc in the Chamber of Deputies.

M. Herriot came to Paris with the avowed intention of opposing another former premier, and his rival, Edouard Daladier, to-night in a meeting of the party's executive committee.

He told his friends at Lyons yesterday evening that he was absolutely opposed to Daladier's efforts to unite the Communists, Socialists and Radical Socialists.

"I have had enough. I will resign if the party takes that road, where I won't follow it," he asserted.

M. Daladier has gained the leadership of the extremist wing of Herriot's party since he was forced to resign the premiership after the riots of February 6, 1934.

M. Daladier at a meeting of left wing members of the prospective merger, called the "Popular Front," told the Communists and Socialists: "Now we must ask: are you determined to conquer or die?"

As for the form of government, M. Daladier said: "The present republic is finished. It will collapse under the disgust and disdain of the country's workers."

Investigators To Be Deported

Cuban Government Objects to Activities of Unofficial Committee From U.S.

Associated Press
Havana, July 3.—The Cuban government clamped seventeen United States citizens into the Tienan detention camp to-day, thwarting plans to investigate indications of "complete destruction of civil liberties in Cuba."

Clifford Odets, young Liberal playwright and chairman of the Commission to Investigate Social and Labor Conditions, said their project was upset and they were in doubt as to what recourse to take.

Police said the entire party probably would be deported aboard the liner Oriente, sailing for New York to-night.

Reliable sources said the government considered the visitors' mission to be more of agitation than of investigation.

U.S. DEFICIT $3,575,357,963

Associated Press
Washington, July 3.—The United States Treasury's deficit for the fiscal year ended last Sunday was $3,575,357,963.

The figure, covering the second full year of the New Deal administration, compares with a deficit of $3,989,499,035.42 in the previous fiscal period.

Materials For Alaska Colony

Workmen Being Sent to Speed Building in Matanuska Valley

Seattle, July 3.—A new Matanuska project "trouble shooter"—Capt. Charles E. Parsons of the United States Navy—was here to-day, buying materials, employing expert workmen and getting ready to sail for Alaska late this week.

A special mission, led by S. R. Fuller, New York manufacturer, as assistant to Reller Administrator Harry L. Hopkins, left Chicago yesterday evening for Seattle.

A trim coast guard cutter, the Snohomish, was standing by ready to sail with the party on short notice for Seward, probably either Saturday or early next week. The mission, Captain Parsons said, is due here Friday, and he hoped by then to have things "ship shape" so there would be no delay.

While Captain Parsons declined to comment, other sources in close touch with the project indicated he was being sent to Matanuska to administer the project, complaints about which from some of the colonists drew attention in the United States Senate, and resulted in Earl Carr being sent there recently as a special representative of Hopkins.

RIVER FLOODS IN MANITOBA

Damage in Dauphin District; Power Service on Reduced Basis

Canadian Press
Dauphin, Man., July 3.—Swollen by torrential week-end rains, rivers and creeks in this northwestern Manitoba district were over-running their banks at many points to-day. A wide area of farm lands was flooded and many settlers were reported temporarily abandoning inundated property.

The dam at Dauphin's source of water supply was swept away yesterday with damage of $7,000. The rising flood waters to-day menaced the power house, where the basement already is flooded. A rise of only a few feet more would necessitate a shutdown.

Yesterday rivers rose six feet within a few hours and the gatekeeper's lodge at Riding Mountain National Park was swept away. Only essential services received light and power in the Dauphin district to-day.

George Adams, Shipping Surveyor, Retired in Vancouver Monday

Vancouver, July 3.—Godfather of nearly every ship built and named on the British Columbia coast since 1914, George Adams, shipping surveyor and assistant registrar of shipping here, retired on superannuation Monday.

Mr. Adams was born in England, educated at Alton's School, Dulwich. He migrated to Lloyminster, Sask., with the Barr colonists thirty-three years ago but was disappointed in the homestead plan and went to Detroit, where he was employed by the Michigan Central Railway audit department. He later came here.

Liberal Candidates Chosen in Toronto

GIRL ON LINER LOST OVERBOARD

Associated Press
New York, July 3.—Miss Angie Eames of Wellesley, Mass., daughter of the late Francis Eames of Philadelphia, was lost at sea from the Italian liner Conte Grande under unexplained circumstances, ship's officers reported when the liner docked in New York yesterday.

Miss Eames, forty, a Wellesley College graduate, was returning to the United States after four years of teaching English in private Italian schools.

Captain Angelo C. Capurro was notified of her disappearance June 27 when her stateroom was discovered to have been unoccupied during the night.

Her cousin, Burton Eames of Boston, who met the ship, said Miss Eames had been quite happy and with no apparent reason for suicide.

A fellow passenger said she noticed Miss Eames on the tender going out to the ship at Gibraltar and said she appeared to be nervous.

NEEDS INVESTIGATING

THE PRIME MINISTER TOLD THE

House of Commons yesterday that an investigation of the outbreak at Regina would be held after the coroner's inquest arising from the death of one of the police officers involved in the fighting.

There should be no strings to this inquiry, for there are many things which should be cleared up. For instance, why actually did the police raid the meeting late Monday night while, according to the Prime Minister of Saskatchewan, negotiations between the provincial authorities and the strikers were in progress arising out of the offer made by the men early in the day to disperse to their camps or homes either under their own organization or provincial direction?

The explanation of Assistant Commissioner Wood of the Dominion Mounted Police that it was done to enable them to arrest the leaders when they were together does not answer the question, for the police must have known where to lay their hands on Evans and his lieutenants any hour of the day. If they were so inefficient that they could not have done so, any police reporter in Regina could have supplied them with the information. Indeed, since those leaders were negotiating throughout the day, they could have been available any time. Obviously, therefore, there must have been some other reason for the raid upon this open air public meeting.

Also why did the federal representatives in Regina turn down the proposal of the strikers to meet both them and the provincial government in joint session early in the day? Why, when this proposal was refused, and the strikers met the federal representatives alone, was their offer rejected? Were any instructions sent from Ottawa to Assistant Commissioner Wood to refuse to accept the strikers' proposals?

On the larger issue why were the marchers stopped at Regina? Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Minister of Justice, says that as far as he was aware, no instructions were given to the Dominion Police in Saskatchewan to go around warning farmers that they would be liable to prosecution if they fed or otherwise assisted the strikers. Assistant Commissioner Wood said he issued the order under Section 98 of the Criminal Code. Are Commissioners of the Dominion Police permitted to exercise their own discretion in matters of such grave import? Has anybody been trying to make a grandstand play out of this dangerous situation? If so, who was it?

One outcome of the controversy seems certain, and that is that Saskatchewan ultimately will put an end to its agreement with the Dominion government under which, apart from the municipalities, the province was to be policed by the federal department. According to that agreement, entered into five years ago, by virtue of which Saskatchewan has no provincial police, the Dominion Mounted force is supposed to take its orders from the Attorney-General of the province who is responsible for the administration of justice within provincial boundaries. Attorney-General Davis of Saskatchewan demands from the Minister of Justice that the Dominion police be instructed to take its orders from him and him alone.

The arrangement by which the Dominion policed Saskatchewan was bound to be found unworkable. Sooner or later it was inevitable that a situation would arise in which Ottawa would use its police for its own purposes, regardless of the terms of the agreement under which it was supposed to be subject to the control of the provincial government. All the federal government needed to do was to declare an emergency to exist, even if only a few soap-box orators got into action in Saskatchewan, and give its own instructions to its police without paying any attention to the provincial government. No police force can serve two masters properly, especially when one of the bosses gets the jitters and talks about our "institutions being in danger" over a trek of relief camp strikers.

The proposal has been made several times that British Columbia enter into an arrangement with the Dominion government for its police service, similar to that which has developed into such a fiasco in Saskatchewan, but fortunately no government here has had the slightest intention of adopting it. There are many reasons why British Columbia will continue to do its own policing, apart altogether from the fact that its department can not be improved upon, chief among which is the certainty that in the final analysis the federal police, although its services would be paid for by the province, would be subject to instructions from Ottawa under whose statutory authority it was established and appointed, rather than to the provincial government. As a matter of fact, the Dominion Mounted Police is largely a costly overlapping organization in any case, and its scope should be limited mainly to Dominion unorganized territory and purely legitimate federal requirements.

BRITAIN'S GOLF COMES BACK

FOR SEVERAL YEARS BRITAIN'S GOLF suffered because so many of the up and coming experts crossed the English Channel to do duty in France and Flanders.

Britain's golf, however, is coming back. The young caddies of the immediate post-war years are telling par to get behind. The Perrys and Padghams are looking down the golfing corridor, adorned with pictures of Vardon, Ball, Mitchell, Duncan and the Whitcombe family. Then there is old Braid, James Braid, whose assistant "Alf" Perry was, at Walton Heath—also issuing their challenge to all comers.

It was Alfred Perry—nothing to do with the Perry who has given Britain her tennis post-war fame—who won the British open golf championship at Muirfield last Friday.

It must be noted that Muirfield is not far away from the famous North Berwick course—and last Friday it blew, as they say up there, "great guns."

Muirfield, like Oak Bay, faces the ocean. It is "trapped" and "bunkered" to such an extent that your ball has to be accurately placed if it is to avoid trouble. Perry, with only one or two exceptions, "placed" his ball on Friday's final day.

Perry equalled the record medal score for this event which Gene Sarazen set in 1932, which Henry Cotton equalled last year to win the title—283 for the seventy-two-hole grind.

WANTS ACTION

VANCOUVER'S CITY COUNCIL PASSED a resolution yesterday afternoon calling upon the Dominion government to initiate a public works programme to relieve unemployment.

Mayor McGeer said, in support of the resolution, that he did not like to suggest politics, "but if the government is not prepared to take action, it should submit to an election and let us get a group at Ottawa which will do something."

The whole country, of course, is disturbed—particularly business—because it does not know what to do. A lot of legislation has been poured into Parliament, much of which is unworkable and unenforceable.

On July 28 it will be five years since the people of Canada turned out the government of Mr. Mackenzie King. Some time in the not distant future, we feel convinced, they will turn out the Bennett government.

The difference in the turning out of the Bennett government and the turning out of the King government will be that the next change will be dictated in the real interest of the electorate.

Under the Bennett government a trade of more than $2,600,000,000 has dwindled to considerably less than half of that value. An idle army multiplied six times in those five years is the result—and the Regina outbreak is an unpleasant sequel.

MR. STEVENS SPEAKS OUT

"We are at the end of this session. It is asking a great deal of the youth that they shall remain docile in camps when they receive subsistence plus a small honorarium of $6 a month. I think this House should be extremely lenient in its judgment of the boys. I am not speaking of the Communists, the leaders who can be handled by the law. I think most of them are splendid young fellows."

Hon. H. H. Stevens, former Minister of Trade and Commerce in the Bennett government, speaking in the House of Commons yesterday on the relief-camp strikers' behavior in Regina.

THE MAJORITY OF THE CANADIAN people who are not given to looking under their beds o' nights expecting to find some wild-eyed, bewhiskered native of Russia will agree with Mr. Stevens in his contention that "most of them are splendid young fellows"—just up against a raw deal, partly imposed by uncontrollable circumstances, but considerably aggravated by governmental inertia and incompetence.

In the House of Commons yesterday, Mr. Stevens said that on April 30 he wrote to acting Prime Minister Sir George Perley, protesting against the government's viewpoint, that it was primarily a municipal and provincial affair to get the men back to the camps, claiming, also, that it was unnatural to keep young men in these places for long periods, and that Parliament to-day should recognize it.

In another letter, Mr. Stevens predicted trouble unless Vancouver, British Columbia and Ottawa stopped passing the buck. In still another letter, Mr. Stevens suggested the situation was too serious to be used against the Vancouver mayor.

On May 23, Mr. Stevens wrote to Premier Bennett making the following suggestions: The trans-Canada highway completed in British Columbia; reforestation, roads constructed from national parks to the international border, and a conference with the private controllers of credit in Canada. If the bankers refused to undertake a building and housing programme the government could step in.

The demand of the men for fifty cents an hour, Mr. Stevens said, was not unreasonable. On short hours it would cost about $60 a month. It now costs $29 a month to maintain them in camps. But the difference would be worth while in saving the self-respect of the men and making them happy and contented. All the men in British Columbia could be put to work on roads.

Canada had invested millions in national parks which were inaccessible to tourists. Every tourist paid $2.50 to enter a park. By building roads tourist traffic could be doubled and the increased revenue from that source alone would go far to meeting the cost. Reforestation was also a great need. If something was not done soon northern Canada would be a wilderness. It was not enough to say it was a provincial responsibility. It was the responsibility of Parliament.

It is generally acknowledged that it costs the country approximately $45 a month to keep an unemployed man in camp in British Columbia. Mr. Stevens very properly argues that it would be a much better investment to give healthy and vigorous young Canadians $60 a month and preserve their morale for Canada's future development than to keep them herded as if they had committed some crime. Perhaps out of the present mess in Saskatchewan there will emerge some programme which will involve the transformation of the relief camps into centres of activity which will restore the morale of its occupants, now gravely impaired.

MODERN CHILD

Well, who'd have thought it would come to this: I've always fancied a little girl Should be a dainty and winsome miss With hair that never gets out of curl. But here is Janet with eyes aflame Insisting on seeing a baseball game And wanting to sit by the left field wall In the hope of grabbing a foul fly ball.

"Let's sit back of the screen," said I. But she dropped her eyes and her face went grim And this unto me was her strange reply: "I want to sit out where the foul tips come. I'd rather go out in the bleachers cheap Where I may get a ball they will let me keep. Bill Smith says that he and his father sat Out where the foul tips leave the bat."

"And they got a ball which his father caught With his right hand bare and it stung him, too; And Billy says if we sit there he thought There'd surely be foul tips hit at you."

They come real fast in the left field stand But if he did catch them with just one hand And come back home with a baseball new I told him I knew you could catch one, too."

Loose Ends

The public rallies around—there are too many ends—Mr. Merriman goes back to roses—Mr. Mussolini goes into economics—and M. Borotra is satisfied.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

OWLS AND CROWS

THE READERS of this column are really too, too generous. I am overwhelmed. I am taken aback. Indeed, as you shall see, I am almost overcome.

That is to say, I recently asked for the loan of a stuffed owl to keep the robins off my cherry trees. It was a heart-rending appeal but, speaking frankly, I hardly expected anything to come of it. I hardly expected to get a stuffed owl as easily as that. Instead, by 8 o'clock that night two persons had telephoned to say that they could supply an owl, and one kindly gentleman said he believed he could borrow a stuffed hawk from a friend, if I would promise to return it within a week.

Several others wrote me to say they were standing by with their owls and I had only to let them know and they would rally around. Indeed, there were stuffed owls all over the city ready to fly to my assistance if I will only say the word.

This is just to let the owls and their owners know that I am considering each offer on its merits and will decide in due course. I mean, a stuffed owl is a thing you can't rush into. You have to think it over carefully and weigh the problem from all angles.

Anyway, a complication arose. One of the readers of this column couldn't wait to consult me. He came rushing to my assistance unbidden and in his hand he brought what do you suppose? A dead crow that he had shot especially for the purpose. He said he had shot it some time before. I suspect he found it. It was considerably dead, all right.

He said if I hung it on my cherry trees, no robins would dare to approach. I hung it there and I found he was right. No robins dare to approach. But neither do I. Sometimes if the wind is blowing from the north hard, you can get near the tree from that direction, but we shall never get the cherries on the south where the sun has ripened them. The dead crow is what I would call a complete solution of the problem of protecting cherries. So I won't need an owl after all.

IRISH ROSE

MY FRIEND, Mr. Tom Merriman, writes in the magazine section of this newspaper that since his friends started to analyze the words of the old-time songs he can't sing them any more. They are too absurd, even for the occasions when a song by Mr. Merriman is required. He tells the public that the other songs have been analyzed by the experts into absurdity, he will have to fall back on his old stand-by, and sing "My Wild Irish Rose" when the occasion requires a human utterance. This is very touching; how touching no one can imagine unless he has heard Mr. Merriman sing "My Wild Irish Rose" on such an occasion.

If the scientific experts want to complete the admirable work that they have started, they should now analyze "My Wild Irish Rose" into absurdity so that Mr. Merriman couldn't sing that either. Then I would be willing to admit that science has some merit after all.

FACADE

ITALY, IT NOW DEVELOPS, has to have Ethiopia, not as a matter of national pride but simply to keep herself from going broke. Behind the splendid outward facade of fascism the economic foundations of the state are crumbling. They must be shored up somehow by the acquisition of outside territory and treasures.

At the same time Germany concludes a peace pact with Great Britain because it can't afford not to. Its economic foundations are also sinking fast. All the parading and goose-stepping and head-chopping haven't healed the huge trade deficit, haven't shown the German workman how he can continue to exist as wages keep going down.

People who think a dictatorship of the right or the left or centre would put us on our feet in this country ought to take a look at the dictatorships of Italy and Germany, both broke. The economics of the fascists are crazier even than our own, have not touched the essential problems of the capitalism which they were born to maintain and have to keep going by such interesting devices as foreign wars.

But where we make a fuss, where our people complain and our governments get thrown out on their ears, fascism can put a much better face on things. It can decorate bankruptcy with swastikas, drown the groans of disaster with martial music and hide the face of national idiocy under a helmet. The people don't make a fuss as we do. The elections don't complain in our case. They are too patriotic. They don't like to get shot, either.

But, like us, they must eat and they won't be able to live indefinitely on swastikas, for while armies may march when fellows like Hitler and Mussolini raise their hands, the tides of economics wait for no man.

DUEL

THE FAMOUS DUEL between M. Borotra, the French tennis player, and some sportsman who had criticized him, has been completed to the satisfaction of all concerned. In some countries it might have been a nasty business, but the French have a civilized method of settling these difficulties. At a certain stage in the duel, just when it seems certain that one or other of the gentlemen involved is likely to be punctured, it is announced that, as a result of explanations, both are entirely satisfied and have become fast friends.

How much cruder and more unsatisfactory is our management of difficulties in this country. There, when a fellow says something you don't like, you immediately rush forth and challenge him to a secret duel, the papers shriek the news, your friends rally around, you are a national hero and a great man. And after these preliminary manoeuvres, after explanations have been made and both sides perfectly satisfied, the prestige of each is immeasurably enhanced and everybody is happy.

But here people go on saying and whispering disagreeable things about other people year after year and the other people reply by whispering more disagreeable things about their slanderers. All politicians and prominent citizens in this country are slandered regularly on all sides at once from one year's end to the other, but no one ever does anything about it. No one seems to challenge. No one orders pistols or swords. The slanderers go on and on, skulking through the world, poisoning people's minds, lowering the reputation of the race at large, making everybody miserable, robbing life of its dignity.

Or if some fellow does lose his patience he doesn't satisfy himself and the public on the field of honor. He punches some other fellow on the nose, a vulgar and disgusting business. How much better it would be, more honourable and more dignified and courageous, if our prominent citizens, when slandered, if our statesmen when slandered in the newspapers, if our athletes when criticized in the sport pages, would resort to mortal combat. Then, after the warlike preliminaries, the blood-curdling preliminaries, the explanations, the complete satisfaction of all concerned, the slander, the slur and the criticism would not continue to skulk about. They would be brought out to the light and forever extinguished. The reputation of the prominent citizen, statesman and athlete would be enhanced. A new glamour and a certain dignity would be added to life—with no risk to anyone. Our system has no glamour and there is always the physical risk that some fellow will get punched in the nose.

Other People's Views

FRIENDLY HELP

To the Editor:—I have made inquiries recently as to the work done by the Friendly Help Welfare and have come to the conclusion that the vital work done by it in its co-operation with the relief department should be no longer dependent on charity, but should be the responsibility of the city.

ALICE J. COLCLOUGH, View Royal.

STARVATION IN CHINA

To the Editor:—I have learned that roughly 20,000,000 people in China, because of Communist depredations and bad harvest conditions, are in danger of starvation. At the same time we know that there is an immense store of surplus wheat in Canada held back during the past few years by the government and the Wheat Pool in order to keep up the price for the farmer. The board is now acknowledged to be a menace to the grain growers, as its mere presence tends to keep the price from rising.

Why should not our government sell this surplus grain to the Chinese government at a very low price indeed so that with it they may feed their starving millions. This would not lower the world price of wheat at all, as it would be a mere emergency gift. Also, obviously, the Chinese cannot buy it at the regular price or they would not be starving for want of it. As a matter of fact it would tend to raise the price of wheat, as this huge surplus would thus be removed from the market.

Tutty. But above all such an action would demonstrate our belief in international brotherhood; and would sow real and lasting seeds of international friendship.

A. S. AVERILL, Rockland Court, Victoria.

DICTATORSHIPS

To the Editor:—Why is it that as soon as the Communist and the C.C.P. party are resisted by a party or individual, they at once begin to yell, "Fascism." Even some of the preachers are guilty, and should be clear to most people just where they stand. Just as soon as a person in a place of responsibility is doing what is and has been the standard of ethics in the past, he is at once branded by the Communists and C.C.P. as being a demagogue if he puts a stop to their party plans and schemes.

Why is Lytle Telford so afraid if his party makes a mistake our country will turn to Fascism? Why do they all know how to put up that same howl all over Canada and the U.S.A.? Have they all been taught to say it? They must have. Why? Why are they so afraid of dictatorship when there is no dictator so ruthless and cruel as Stalin?

They know people are afraid of dictatorship, so they play upon the minds of the unsuspecting public, and then they will introduce the most rigid dictatorship when they get into power. That is the only way they can carry on, for when people get their eyes open and see what form of government they have people will oppose, but it is too late then as dictatorship rules the roost.

828 Courtney Street.

EVOLUTION

To the Editor:—Mr. McKim is incorrect in his assertion that "scientists to this very day cannot find one instance of the change of species into another," for we have "the continuous record over millions of years" of forms of the genus Ostrac, which developed into the genus Gryphaea. (Haldane, "Causes of Evolution," p. 21). Such a chain of evidence is only possible in marine life, where we have a long, continuous and complete record, but there is ample evidence of such change of species in cases where the complete record is not available, and new types are constantly being produced by artificial selection, which would be classed as new species if they were the product of natural selection.

Your correspondent is equally unhappy in his citation of Bateson. Bateson thus stated the link of evidence that was required to complete the chain—"Evolution is evident enough. But that essential bit of the theory of evolution which is concerned with the origin and nature of species remains mysterious. The production of an indubitably sterile hybrid from completely fertile parents, which have arisen under critical observations from a common parent, is the event for which we wait." This event has since occurred. (Haldane, ibid., p. 22). Haldane concludes thus: "I regard evolution as being quite as well proven as most other historical facts. Certain critics have admitted the possibility of large structural or functional changes, but not of such a profound change as the origin of consciousness or reason. Their attitude rests on a refusal to face certain facts of everyday life. The strangest thing about the origin of consciousness from unconsciousness is not that it has happened once in the remote past, but that it happens in the life of everyone of us."

An early human embryo without nervous system or sense organs, has no more claims to consciousness than a plant, far less than a jellyfish. A new-born baby may be conscious, but has less title to rationality than a dog or ape. The evolutionist makes the very modest claim that an increase in rationality such as every normal child shows in its lifetime, has occurred in the ancestors of the human race in the last few million years.

Such an increase in rationality is a fact of everyday experience. "In the evidence for evolution, first comes the evidence of fossils. We have now in a few cases continuous records over enormous periods, and where the record is not continuous, very many different stages. Thus we have over 200 fossil species on the line of descent of the modern horse and its living relatives, from the small four-toed and short-toothed ancestors. When one has made acquaintance with such series of related types any hypothesis other than evolution becomes fantastic.

Again, comparative embryology has been of great value in tracing relationships. The fact that every one of us, before birth, had at different times gill-slits, a tail, and a coat of hair, is barely intelligible on any hypothesis other than that of evolution." And he similarly quotes the clear, confirmatory proof from structure, classification, geographical distribution, blood and chemical composition and comparative parasitology. A. B. SANDERS, 804 Poul Bay Road, Victoria, June 30.

SCHOOL HOLDS ANNUAL SPORTS

Keen Competition Marks Many Events at Malvern House School Field Day

Malvern House School held their eleventh annual presentation of prizes and sports on Saturday.

On the school playing field, under ideal conditions, the boys carried through their long and varied programme of events. A large number of parents and friends were interested spectators.

The pillow fight and greasy pole created a great deal of fun for the spectators.

After the events, all adjourned to St. Matthias Hall for tea and the presentation of prizes. Mr. Emmerson introduced the Rev. A. E. Smith, the chairman for the afternoon.

The chairman gave a short address on the founding and the principles of the school and then called on Mr. Emmerson, the headmaster, to give his annual report.

Mr. Emmerson reviewed the year's work, thanked the parents for their co-operation and said the prospects for the next year were good.

Mr. Emmerson then called on Mrs. W. C. Nichol to present the prizes. A very enjoyable afternoon was brought to an end by Master John Nelson presenting a bouquet of flowers to Mrs. Nichol and the singing of "God Save the King."

LANIGAN LETTERS

The English Fight and Forget With Unprejudiced Judgment; Canada in Disrepute in World's Financial Tower

By W. E. LANIGAN

London.—For sane, unprejudiced judgment and balance, give me the English people.

Grievances and injuries never die with a Celtic race, even if they were perpetrated centuries ago. Oliver Cromwell is still a living factor in Irish politics, and the memory of Prince Charlie will never die in Bonnie Scotland.

England fights, forgives and forgets. To-day Englishmen of rank and intelligence express sympathy with the efforts of Hitler to re-establish the German people, and freely state it is none of Britain's business how other nations choose to be governed.

They are going about the business of restoring prosperity to the nation and are succeeding by keeping everlastingly at it. Experts are investigating "unemployment decreasing." Unsound and impractical financial theories find few advocates and recruit no supporters. The English pound is solid, and they purpose keeping it so. New industrial establishments are being built, old ones remodelled.

MANY UNEMPLOYABLE
There may be a depression, but the Englishman does not drum about it. There are, of course, many unemployed, but more employable. Many middle-aged workers in 1929, after six years of idleness, six years of added age, are no longer capable of sustained effort.

Many, as there are in every community, prefer the dole and the ease of an idle life to a day's work and regular wages. This class get a few hours at odd jobs or cage on the more industrious, and piece out the dole. Then of course there are the physically unfit. Deducting all these, the number of unemployed, willing and able to work, are comparatively few.

CANADIAN DISREPUTE
Canada, I regret to say, is not highly regarded. To use a vulgar expression, in the financial district out-

Adult Education Classes Planned

Langford, July 3.—All organizations in Colwood, Luxton and Happy Valley have been asked to co-operate with the Langford Women's Institute in sending representatives to a meeting in the Women's Institute Hall on Dunford's Road on Friday evening at 8 o'clock. Needs of the district in adult education will be discussed. It is proposed to hold classes for adults over sixteen years of age in the hall. Among the speakers will be Archie Willis, news editor of The Daily Times. It is hoped a speaker from the University of British Columbia will also be present.

FEW TRAVELERS see it; only an occasional airplane flies overhead; trains rumble through a tunnel 2,000 feet underneath, yet a lone bronze statue of Christ has been standing since 1904 in the boundary line of Argentina and Chile, as a mark of the peaceful relationship these two countries have enjoyed. Near the summit of the Pico de Tupiza, in the Andes, 12,600 feet high, this unique statue stands twenty-six feet tall on a base about the same height. It had been cast from some old Spanish cannon by the Argentine Sculptor Mateo Alonzo, and was offered to both nations by Bishop Benavente of Argentina.

Victoria Place To Lose "Jitters"

Bill Patton, Palm Springs Realtor, Gives Hal Wallis Sales Talk on Vancouver Island

"Hello Hal!" "Well, if it isn't Bill Patton." This exchange of greetings took place in the Empress Hotel retunda. William R. Patton, real estate operator of Palm Springs, Cal., who has sold homesites to many of the film stars, showed his pleasure at meeting Hal Wallis, production executive of Warner Brothers and husband of Louise Fazenda.

They talked of old times and chatted about the desert. Many times have Hal Wallis and his wife traveled over the 120 miles of highway between Hollywood and Palm Springs, and like many other moving picture celebrities they know Mr. Patton.

Palm Springs has risen out of the desert, boasts a couple of swanky hotels and some modest residences which rent for anything from $500 to $1,000 a month when the money barons are on the road.

It is the place to go to get a sun bath and, according to Mr. Patton, is becoming the show place of southern California.

As the handshake relaxed, Mr. Patton began telling Mr. Wallis something he already knew. He praised to the skies the manifold attractions of Victoria.

"For anyone who has the jitters, Victoria is the place to come. This island, I can tell you, has everything you want for complete relaxation. It's great to explore the country around here. I can take you for a car ride and within a very few minutes you are out in the country. And what country! Get off the beaten path and you will fall for the beauty spots, as I did," exclaimed Mr. Patton.

"There's a Victoria booster for you," laughingly commented Mr. Wallis. "I should say I am," replied the Palm Springs realty man. "I came here for a short visit and have rented a house on Beach Drive for a month. And, what is more, I like the people here. You get service and they don't expect you to pay through the nose for it."

"I was driving up to Duncan the other day and when I stopped for gas the station operator forgot to put the cap on the tank. He telephoned ahead to another gas station, told them to replace the cap and refill the tank if any had been spilled."

"Can you beat that for service?"

Market Notes

Local strawberries which were at their peak two weeks ago are almost finished, according to information received from wholesale row this morning. Strawberries from the Surrey plantations on the mainland are now taking care of the local demand.

Vancouver Island produce is still well in the small fruit picture as raspberries and loganberries are now on the market.

California tree fruits are beginning to appear in the city with the first shipment of apricots and plums in local stores.

Cantaloupes are more plentiful and prices lower. Larger shipments of quality fruit from California are reported to be arriving on wholesale row.

Bing cherries are arriving daily on the local market. A few local sweet cherries are also on sale in city stores.

The tomato price is still firm, with no change reported.

Onions are arriving daily from Walla Walla.

Butter and egg prices were reported to be on a par to-day. The wholesale quotations for the very best butter and eggs are 22 cents.

ISLAND SUMMER THEATRE CENTRE

Victorians Interested in Promoting Movement at Qualicum Beach

Qualicum Beach, July 3.—With the prospect of a busy season amid the summer attractions of Qualicum Beach, members of the Summer Theatre Dramatic Company arrived here on Saturday. A house on the beach has been taken and rehearsals have commenced for their first production, which will be presented at the Qualicum Beach Community Hall on July 6.

This venture is believed to be the first attempt in Canada to establish a summer theatre centre in Canada presenting regular amateur productions during the summer months, and is mainly a result of the initiative of the U.B.C. Players of Vancouver. In addition to their regular members, most of whom are well known on the island, they will be assisted by many of British Columbia's most prominent theatre workers, including Marjorie Benson, Henry Worthington and William Sargent, of the Victoria Beaux-Arts Club, and Dorothy Somers, Guy Glover, Bill Buckingham, and Mrs. F. G. C. Wood, of Vancouver.

A minimum visit of three weeks is promised, with a fresh production every Saturday night, and if support warrants it, may be extended into August.

An Austrian telephone device informs callers when a subscriber is out, stating the time of his return. A small dial is set to the correct returning time and the robot gives out the information automatically.

Two Popular Musicians United In Marriage

Miss Grace Allen, Pianist, Becomes Bride of Pierre Timp at St. Mary's; Meistersingers in Attendance

Two well-known members of Victoria's musical coterie were united in marriage yesterday evening at 8:30 o'clock at St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, when Grace Allen, pianist, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Allen, 924 Empress Avenue, became the bride of Mr. Pierre Jacques Timp, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Timp of Leyden, Holland.

Rev. Canon A. E. de L. Nunns officiated in the presence of a large congregation. The church was beautifully arranged with standard baskets filled with Canterbury bells, peonies and other summer flowers.

MEISTERSINGERS SANG

The bride is a well-known pianist and accompanist for the Meistersingers, of which the bridegroom is one of the leading tenors, and in compliment to them The Meistersingers, wearing their picturesque Bohemian costumes with red velvet jackets and flowing ties, attended the ceremony in a body headed by Frederic King, conductor. They sang Dudley Wick-ett's special arrangement of "O, Perfect Love," while the bride couple left the church preceded them down the aisle, and on the steps of the church formed a guard of honor, holding musical scores aloft in a novel arch.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was an attractive picture in her graceful gown of white lace, the full skirt flaring into a slight train. The bodice was finished with a cowl neckline and had full dolman sleeves. Her veil of filmy net was worn in hair style of her face and was confined to her head with a cluster of orange blossoms over each ear. She carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses, carnations and sweet peas.

There were two matrons of honor. Mrs. Nelson Allen, of Vancouver, sister-in-law of the bride, in a frock of white satin-striped organza, over palest pink, and a pink picture hat trimmed with velvet. She carried a bouquet of mauve sweet peas.

Mrs. Sara Rattenbury, the other attendant, wore a charming frock of floral chiffon in two shades of blue, with a blue mohair hair hat trimmed with pink roses and carried a bouquet of carnations and sweet peas.

The best man was Mr. Nelson Allen, brother of the bride, and the ushers were Messrs. Dudley Wickett, Frank Irving, George McDermid, Leslie J. Smith, Mr. P. T. C. Wickett was at the organ and played the wedding music.

RECEPTION AT HOME

A largely-attended reception was held after the service at the home of the bride's parents, Mrs. Allen were an ensemble of navy blue lace and georgette, a blue hat trimmed with grey, and a corsage bouquet of sweet peas.

She was assisted by Miss Grace Crider, of Winnipeg, an aunt of the bride, wearing a flowered chiffon dress in shades of yellow and old gold, with black accessories, and a corsage bouquet of yellow roses and mauve sweet peas.

During the reception the bride and groom stood beneath two tall baskets filled with pink and white peonies and tied with large bows of white tulle. Masses of Canterbury bells in shades of pink, white and blue, pink anemones, blue delphiniums and pink carnations were arranged throughout the rooms.

The handsomely decorated wedding cake, set in folds of pink tulle, centered the supper table, which was illuminated with white tapers.

The bride and groom left at midnight for Vancouver, en route to Harrison Hot Springs, where they will visit for a short time before taking a motor trip in the United States.

The bride traveled in a three-quarter-length coat of green Angora wool over a plaid dress in shades of green, and white accessories.

On their return from their honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Timp will make their home at Cadboro Bay.

Sunday Musicales Given By Pupils

A delightful musicale was held Sunday evening at 323 Stannard Avenue, the home of Miss Hazel McMahon, associate teacher to Mrs. Milton White, when she and some of her pupils entertained a number of their friends.

The rooms were beautiful with a profusion of lovely flowers, and after the programme tea was served. Much promise and advancement was evident in the playing of the pupils, the Leechetzy technique giving unusual clarity and evenness. The programme was as follows:

Angela Dances (Kerr), France (minuet), Germany, Waltz (John Thompson), Doreen Jones; Sonata in F. (Beethoven), Skating (Klein), Music Box (Bernice Copeland), June Howard; Prelude (Chopin), "To the Rising Sun" (Torjussen), Janie Williams; Duets, Twilight Song (Shackley), Our School Band (Roffe), June and Dorothy Howard; Variations (Beethoven), Coming of Spring (Eggleston), Marguerite Jones; First Movement of the Moonlight Sonata (Beethoven), Waltz (Brahms), Dorothy Howard; Rhapsody Prelude (Chopin), Pizzicato (Delibes), Marguerite Jones; Fantasia in D Minor (Mozart), Dorothy Howard; Juba Dance (Pett), "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" (Bach), Hazel McMahon.

For the week-end they have had with them their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Cummins of Vancouver. Mr. Cummins returned yesterday evening to his home on the mainland while Mrs. Cummins is remaining in Victoria for a longer visit with her parents.

Arrangements are completed for the garden party sponsored by St. Mary's Ladies' Guild, to be held to-morrow, from 3 to 6 o'clock, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Gibson and the adjoining gardens of Mrs. C. F. Armstrong, York Place, Oak Bay. An invitation is extended to the general public to visit these beauty spots of Victoria. There will be attractions for all ages. Children with their parents will be admitted free. Geo. J. Dyke's thirty-piece string orchestra will supply the music.

NICHOLLS—HOWARD

The United Church at Ganges Harbor was the scene of a very pretty wedding yesterday morning, when Marjorie Aldene, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Howard of Ganges, was married to Mr. Philip Nicholls, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Thompson of Nanaimo, Rev. E. J. Thompson officiating.

The church was prettily decorated with white campanulas. Mrs. J. Watson, at the organ, rendered appropriate music.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was a charming picture in her gown of white georgette made with high line in front, combined with three choux of tulle. The low-cut back was trimmed with rows of ruching, ending in a narrow sash falling to the hem of the floor-length skirt.

With it she wore a close-fitting Juliet cap with short veil and carried a big sheaf of white roses and campanulas.

Her only attendant was her sister, Miss Alice Howard, who was attired in a pretty gown of pale green organza and carried a sheaf of pink sweet peas.

The groom was supported by Mr. B. Stevens of Nanaimo, Mrs. J. H. Howard, mother of the bride, wore a smart cornflower blue swaggar suit, with close-fitting blue straw hat, trimmed with shaded velvet flowers. Among the guests from Nanaimo were Mr. H. ## SECOND PARTY GOES TO CAMP

Mothers and Children Benefit By Holiday at Fred Landsberg Camp

The second party of the season, consisting of seventeen mothers and thirty-five children, left for Fred Landsberg Sunning Camp at Saanichton, B.C., yesterday, transportation being arranged by the service clubs of the city. This makes a capacity camp for the next two weeks.

Brown and happy after their holiday by the sea, the first group of campers returned yesterday. In almost every case the children sent to camp stand badly in need of the hearty meals of plain nourishing food provided for them, and the gain in weight was of much more serious trouble during the fall and winter months.

Workers with the Friendly Help Welfare Association, who do the necessary investigating and arranging, state that the change in outlook shown by the mothers who have been given a respite from their problems and a real rest at Camp Sunshine is remarkable.

Although the association sees to the running of the camp, no provision is made in the budget for it. It is entirely supported by the contributions of the citizens who realize the necessity for such a community service.

Contributions should be plainly marked "Fred Landsberg Sunning Camp," and sent either in care of the Friendly Help Welfare Association, 1234 Pandora Avenue, or in care of the Empire Realty Company, 1008 Broad Street.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

By Alice Hart

Of all the fascinating new beauty gadgets on the market right now, compacta seem to be the most novel. The powder-and-rouge-kit manufacturers have outdone themselves to make their products intriguing, looking as well as handy and useful.

One especially nice new compact, put out by a famous French couturier, is a hollow, egg-shaped oval. Suspended on a neat cord that is worn about your wrist, this opens up to reveal space for loose powder and two smaller compartments for rouge, lipstick, few pieces of change or a dainty evening handkerchief.

There are new lipstick cases that get right into the spirit of spring and add a touch of interest to the make-up of a woman. Ask your bag. Many of them follow the vogue for monograms, having, instead of the manufacturers' name, a blank space

BUSINESS CLUBS OPEN SESSION

Federation Meets in Calgary; Miss Dauphinee on Economic Security

Canadian Press
Calgary, July 3.—Convention headquarters were opened and get-together meetings held yesterday as representatives of 2,000 business women of the Dominion prepared for the opening here today of the three-day annual meeting of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

Miss A. Josephine Dauphinee, national president, of Vancouver, was the convention chairman.

Business women want security, not only from economic ills but from the threat of war and unrest of the world," Miss Dauphinee declared in an interview.

The federation's president believes women should work for the same pay, in the same positions as men and should draw the same results.

"I feel very strongly the implications against women in the unemployment-insurance act which presupposes lower wages for women than for men and in consequence requires a smaller contribution from women," she said.

The depression has helped the federation cause, said Miss Mary Ethel Thornton of Winnipeg, national secretary. Women have "banded together as never before." The federation today has a membership of 1,600.

ORPHANS PASS AT SCHOOL

Protestant Home Committee Pleased at Report of Children's Progress

The older girls have started sewing classes in the mornings and the boys cleared up the fallen trees on the grounds and have sown and split them up for firewood.

Thirty-five of the children were taken for a sight-seeing drive in the horse-drawn trolley, bearing the sign "Citizens of To-morrow." The drive was arranged by Messrs. Fair and Merryfield and ice cream was supplied for the children by the Northwestern Creamery.

The following donations were gratefully received in June: Fernwood Meat Market, vegetables; Christ Church Cathedral, sandwiches and cake; Mrs. Guyton, cherries; Northwestern Creamery, ice cream; Shaul's Bakery, bread and buns; David Spencer Ltd., large box candy; Reformed Church, sandwiches and cake; Miss Nancy Cameron, toys; Mrs. J. ## Gave Violin And Piano Recital

The senior violin and piano pupils of Mr. and Mrs. E. Sempie gave a recital on Saturday evening in the Victoria Truth Centre, when the applause of the interested audience gave proof of their appreciation and approval.

The programme was carried out with spirit and ease by the following pupils: Phyllis Gibson, Margaret Worth, Harry Richards, Janet Marrior, James Uren, Gwendeth Protheroe, Ursula Hills, Alison Craig and Alisa Braidwood.

This group of violinists were heard again in a presentation of the "Overture to Tancrède" (Rossini).

Alisa Braidwood and Geraldine Percival in a piano duet, the first movement of Beethoven's "Seventh Symphony" gave a very finished rendition, and with Margaret Worth, Phyllis Gibson, Ursula Hills, Verlyn Lawson, were the most brilliant of the piano students who are fulfilling the promise which they showed in their earlier years of training.

Onaugh Kennedy was heard in "Hungarian Fantasia" (Chopin); Phyllis Gibson in "Part Invention No. 12" (Bach) and "Waltz in G" (Chopin); Brahms' "Hungarian Dance" and "Egon Rosmarin" (Kreutzer) by the clever young violinist Stuart Turner; Rachmaninoff's "Polichinelle" by Mrs. F. ## "FRAT" GIRLS TO MEET IN EAST

Alpha Gamma Delta International Convention to Open in Quebec

Vancouver, July 3.—More feminine charm than has been encompassed in one sleeping car in many a month was contained in a special car aboard the Canadian Pacific Railway's eastbound train to-night when seventeen members of the Alpha Gamma Delta fraternity set out for the international convention of their order, opening shortly at the Chateau Frontenac in Quebec.

Girls representing chapters of the fraternity in Vancouver, Seattle and Pullman, Wash.; Phoenix, Arizona; Eugene, Oregon, and Los Angeles, Calif., were in the party.

Alpha Gamma Delta, with more Canadian chapters than any other international fraternity, maintains a camp for underprivileged children at Welland, Ontario, and part of the convention itinerary will be an inspection visit there.

The West Coast delegates who left here to-night will be joined by three delegates from the Winnipeg chapter on their way east. They will stop over at Banff and Lake Louise for a day.

Esquimalt, B.C. silver tea will be held by the Esquimalt Women's Institute at the home of Mrs. J. Kelly, Esquimalt Road, on Saturday, from 2.30 to 5.30 o'clock. Afternoon tea will be conveyed by Mrs. J. Matheson and Mrs. T. Cave. Mrs. R. Garrett will be in charge of the home cooking stall. Plain sewing and novelties will be provided over by Mrs. Parks and Mrs. S. Raymond. The affair will take the place of the usual annual garden party. Cards will be played in the evening at Mrs. Kelly's home.

RUFFE MCCLAIN RACE WINNER

Takes Dominion Day Mile
Race at Duncan Meet

Duncan, July 8.—Two hundred children lined up at the Agricultural Hall on Monday for the "Kids' Day Parade." Much amusement was caused by the appearance of the stabled ruler (H. Piele), dressed in period costume and another comic period (A. de C. Denny), and a clown orchestra on a wagon drawn by motor. All children at the hall were given a balloon and a flag, and after parading through the streets they assembled at Evans's Field, where Rev. A. B. Schlager "rode the flag" and all saluted. Mr. Piele welcomed the children and Hugh Savage, M.L.A., gave an inspiring address on the flag and its meaning.

In the afternoon the Duncan Amateur Race Club put on their Dominion Day meet on the Cowichan District Riding Club track at Evans's Field. The committee in charge were Mrs. E. Springett, Eddie Evans, Donald Butt and Nat Staples. The judges were Capt. A. W. Barton and C. M. Saunders, steward, Commander C. H. S. Slingsby, clerk of course, Eric Springett, veterinary, Dr. H. McKinnon and starter, W. A. McIntosh, assisted by J. Hewitt.

The various races and winners were as follows:
Thoroughbreds, catchweights; four and one-half furlongs: 1. B. Grieve's American Motor, Miss Rea up; 2. Mike McDonough, from Jackson's Riding Academy, O. Jackson up; 3. W. Martin's Red Oak, O. Evans up.
Ladies' race, four and one-half furlongs: 1. Mrs. Norcross's Kitty, Miss K. Buckmaster up; 2. Patsy, owned and ridden by Miss H. Maxwell; 3. Mike, owned and ridden by Miss Josie Lewis.

Dominion Day race, open; one mile: 1. W. Martin's Red Oak, Miss H. Maxwell up; 2. Bonnie Doone, owned and ridden by Miss K. Buckmaster; 3. Mike McDonough, O. Jackson up.
Under fifteen hands, no thoroughbreds; four and one-half furlongs: 1. Shavaleen Prince, owned and ridden by Capt. R. B. Evans; 2. E. Evans's Peggy, Owen Evans up.
Thoroughbreds, six furlongs: 1. W. Martin's Entry, Miss H. Maxwell up; 2. Hodge Podge, Jackson's Riding Academy, O. Jackson up; 3. B. Grieve's American Motor, Miss Rea up.

The "Kids' Derby" caused considerable amusement. Only horses twenty-five years of age and older were eligible, to be ridden by an Elk. O. F. Jones was adjudged the winner.
Only two teams entered in the relay race. G. O. Bates' team and the Battery team, the former winning.

ANTI-VIVISECTION SOCIETY ACTIVE

The Victoria Anti-vivisection Society reports heavy business in connection with its work. Requests have come from outside points for information and contact kept up with similar societies in all parts of the world. Protests against the use of animals in the Christian University of Shantung, China, have been numerous; the local society having printed and distributed all information received to date. The local Baptist convention was also informed and asked to take action.
Criticism of the recent Jubilee Cancer Research Fund still continues, and attention was drawn to public criticism of similar appeals for funds being made in England. A letter of congratulation has been forwarded to Capt. C. Rickard, secretary of the Hythe Lifeboat Association and vice-president of the Cinque Ports Flying Club, for his action in opposing appeals for funds for cancer research, when such research is associated with animal experiments. The local society has prepared a report on the proposed State Health Insurance plan, with certain criticisms which are being sent to the Provincial Secretary. The committee recommended that provision should be made "that no compulsion, either direct or indirect, may be applied to any person, either by the commission, by medical men or by employers to induce taxpayers under the act to be vaccinated or inoculated or to submit to any form of treatment to which that person may have an objection." It also went on record that "most strongly deprecates the tendency in present day legislation to establish boards which assume any powers of decision which would properly belong to the courts and which eliminate appeal to the courts."

Pirates of Venus

By EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

Copyright, 1935

We were often stopped by curious friends of my captors or hosts (I was sure yet in which category they fell), but none offered me either harm or insult, and if I were the object of their curious scrutiny, so were they of mine. While no two of them were identical in appearance, they were all handsome and all apparently of about the same age. I saw no old people and no children.

Presently we approached a tree of such enormous diameter that I could scarcely believe the testimony of my eyes when I saw it. It was fully 300 feet in diameter. Stripped of branches for a 100 feet above and below the canopy, its surface was dotted with windows and doors and encircled by wide balconies or verandas. Before a large and elaborately carved doorway was a group of armed men before whom we halted while Duran addressed one of them.

I thought at the time that he called this man Tofar, and such I learned later was his name. He wore a necklace from which depended a metal disc bearing a hieroglyphic in relief; otherwise he was not accoutred differently from his companions. As he and Duran conversed, he appraised me carefully from head to foot. Presently he and Duran passed through the doorway into the interior of the tree, while the others continued to examine me and question Kamlet and Olthar.

While I waited there, I embraced the opportunity to study the elaborate carvings that surrounded the portal, forming a frame fully five feet wide. The motifs appeared historical, and I could easily imagine that the various scenes depicted important events in the life of a dynasty or a nation. The workmanship was exquisite, and it required no stretch of the imagination to believe that each delicately carved face was the portrait of some dead or living celebrity. There was nothing grotesque in the delineation of the various figures, as is so often the case in work of similar character on earth, and only the borders that framed the whole and separated contiguous plaques were conventional.

I was still engrossed by these beautiful examples of the wood carver's art when Duran and Tofar returned and motioned Olthar and Kamlet and me so follow them into the interior of the great tree. We passed through several large chambers and along wide corridors, all carved from the wood of the living tree, to the head of a splendid stairway, which we descended to another level. The chambers near the doorway to which we stood, two by two, they crossed the chamber, we saw a man seated at a table near a large window. Just inside the doorway we halted, my companions standing in respectful silence until the man at the table looked up and spoke to them when they crossed the room, taking me with them, upon the opposite side of which the man sat facing us.

He spoke pleasantly to my companions, calling each by name, and when they replied they addressed him as "Jong." He was a fine-looking man with a strong face and a commanding presence. His attire was similar to that worn by all the other Venusians I had seen, differing only in that he wore about his head a fillet that supported a circular metal disc in the centre of his forehead. He appeared much interested in me, and watched me intently while listening to Duran, who I had no doubt, was narrating the story of my strange and sudden appearance the night before.

CHAPTER X

When Duran had concluded, the man called Jong addressed me. His manner was serious, his tones kindly. Out of courtesy, I replied, though I knew that he could understand me no better than I had understood him. He smiled and shook his head; then he fell into a discussion with the others. Finally he struck a metal gong that stood near him on the table; then he arose and came around the table to where I stood.
He examined my clothing carefully, feeling its texture and apparently dissection of the materials and the weave with the others. Then he examined the skin of my hands and feet, felt my hair, and made me open my mouth that he might examine my teeth. I was reminded of the horse market and the slave block. "Perhaps," I thought, "the latter is more appropriate."
He then entered now whom I took to be a servant and, receiving instructions from the man called Jong, departed again, while I continued to be the object of minute investigation. My beard, which was now some twenty-four hours old, elicited considerable comment. It is not a beautiful beard at any age, being sparse and reddish, for which reason I am careful to shave daily when I have the necessary utensils.
I cannot say that I enjoyed this intimate appraisal, but the manner in which it was conducted was so entirely free from any suggestion of intentional rudeness or discourtesy, and my position here was so delicate that my better judgment prevented me from openly resenting the familiarities of the man called Jong. It is well that I did not.

Presently a man entered through a doorway at my right. I assumed that he had been summoned by the servant recently dispatched. As he came forward, I saw that he was much like the others: a handsome man of about thirty. There are those who declaim against monotony, but for me there can never be any monotony of beauty, not even if the beautiful things were all identical, which the Venusians I had so far seen were not. All were beautiful, but each in his own way.

The man called Jong spoke to the newcomer rapidly for about five minutes, evidently narrating all that they knew about me and giving instructions. When he had finished, the other motioned me to follow him; and a few moments later I found myself in another room of the same level. It had three large windows and was furnished with several desks, tables, and chairs. Most of the available wall space was taken up by shelves on which reposed what I could only assume to be books—thousands of them.

The ensuing three weeks were as delightful and interesting as any that I have ever experienced. During this time, Duran, in whose charge I had been placed, taught me the Venusian language and told me much concerning the planet, the people among whom I had fallen, and their history. I found the language easy to master, but I shall never attempt to describe it fully. The alphabet consists of twenty-four characters, five of which represent vowel sounds, and these are the only vowel sounds that the Venusian vocal chords seem able to articulate. The characters of the alphabet all have the same value, there being no capital letters.

Their system of punctuation differs from ours and is more practical; for example, before you start to read a sentence you know whether it is an interrogation, or a simple statement. Characters having values similar to the comma and semicolon are used much as we use these two; they have no colon; their character that functions as does our period follows each sentence, their question mark and exclamation point preceding the sentences the nature of which they determine.

A peculiarity of their language that renders it easy to master is the absence of irregular verbs; the verb root is never altered for voice, mode, tense, number, or person. Distinctions that are achieved by the use of several simple, auxiliary words.

LET A CHART HELP IN ASSIGNING HOME DUTIES

The mention of home duties and ways to enforce them strikes a responsive chord in motherly hearts. No mother wants to be a slave driver, or to impose upon her children, but each realizes that for a child to be assigned and to fulfill certain duties is a necessary step in the development of responsibility.

To map out the work and suggest the tasks for the children of any household is impossible for an outsider. No one but the housewife knows the tasks of her home, and no one but herself knows her own speed in performing them. Speed, management, persistency and regularity in housework are varying factors which make one person's budget of time, like their budget of expenses, almost unusable to some other person.

MAKE A CHART

But there are ways in which each mother may make her own household chart of duties. She may, for one week, jot down each day the tasks she performs and the time it takes her to do each. On seven sheets of paper, then, she has a complete outline of the week's work. Next she may sit down with the children—and the father—and allot each one his or her share of these tasks.

The chart for Monday would probably go something like this:
Tasks—Prepare breakfast, sort wash, do breakfast dishes, sweep rooms, mop rooms, dust rooms, clean bathroom, make beds, and so on and on through the day.
Next, to each task would go the name of the child or adult who would be responsible for it. Perhaps the tasks would alternate so that on Tuesday Amy would do the mopping of floors, which on Wednesday would be delegated to Dorothy. In such case no quarrels can ensue because of maternal favoritism and the chart is an impersonal goal to the work, far more effective than the sound of mother's voice exhorting a child to "be a good girl and help mother, she's so busy."

To-morrow: "Always Good Cause of Baby's Abnormal Behavior."
W. L. Card Party—A card party will be held Thursday evening at 8:15 o'clock in the Parish Hall, St. Paul's Garrison Church, under the auspices of the Equilateral Women's Institute. There will be prizes and refreshments to be served.

MOON DOES NOT HELP PLANTS

Dr. J. Pearce Lectures on Lunar Facts and Fancies to Horticulturists

The moon caused tides and eclipses, but had no effect on atmosphere or horticulture, Dr. J. Pearce, astronomer at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, declared to 100 members of the Victoria Horticultural Society in a most interesting lecture on "Lunar Facts and Fancies," delivered at the monthly meeting of the club in the City Hall.

Dr. Pearce illustrated his lecture with lantern slides, and by means of them took the audience down into the depths of the mighty craters dotting the satellite of the earth.

The sun was quite an insignificant star, the astronomer said in tracing the origin of the moon. It was one of 30,000,000,000 stars in the stellar system, and at that was only a dwarf. It was quite unimportant in the economy of astronomy.

But around it revolved eight worlds, twenty-six moons, 1,500 minor planets and 600 comets—all of them in beautiful harmony—governed by the law of gravitation.

The origin of the solar system was believed to be due to another star coming into close proximity of the sun. This raised tides on the sun, and particles were torn off which continued to revolve about the sun. However, these particles, which in time became the planets, satellites and comets of to-day, amounted to a mere one-thousandth of the sun.

THROWN OFF

The earth, in its beginning, Dr. Pearce pointed out, spun around at a high speed and formed what was known as an ellipsoid of revolution. This ellipsoid became pear shaped and finally broke, casting off the moon, which was about one-hundredth part of the earth.

"It is quite an old earth that we live on," the lecturer declared. "It is 4,000,000,000 years old, but during all that time it has only seen one face of the moon, and we will always see one face of the moon—we will never know what the other side looks like."

Dr. Pearce showed the seas and craters of the moon. The seas had been given some queer names such as the Sea of Storms, the Sea of Fertility, but queerer still was the fact that there was no water in the seas.

The moon was a strange world, a deserted, absolutely dead world. There was no life, no change, no sound on the moon. If a man stood on the satellite with his back to the sun he could see the stars, for there was no atmosphere on the moon.

The moon had a day of fourteen and one-half earth days, and a night as long. In the day the temperature rose to 300 degrees, and at night it fell to 300 degrees below zero. Changes in temperature were extremely rapid.

HUGE CRATERS

Some of the mountains on the moon were higher than Everest, and yet it was only one-sixth the diameter of the earth. The crater of Plato was sixty miles across, while others were even greater still. If a man stood in the centre of these large craters he could not see the ramparts because of the steep curvature of the moon.

Pointing out that the heat of the moon was less than one-millionth of that of the sun, Dr. Pearce showed that it could have little effect on crops.

"I have a garden," Dr. Pearce said, "but it does not make a great showing. My roses are indifferent. It is true I do not plant my bulbs according to the phases of the moon, but I put my failure down to laziness. I do not water my garden. I neglect it. My neighbor has a wonderful garden—yet he is as innocent of astronomy as I am of horticulture."

Before the lecture the meeting stood in silent memory of Fred Landberg and W. J. Sheppard, two of the most valued members of the society who had passed away during the last month.

F. Turner was appointed to take Mr. Landberg's place on the executive.

Hon. Whitehead, president of the society, was in the chair, and reminded all members of the home garden competition, entries for which closed on July 11.

The winners of the monthly competitions were as follows:

Roses—1, H. O. Simpson; 2, F. T. Rawlin.
Roses, novices—1, W. A. McMullin; 2, N. Chamberlain.
Peas—1, G. Holt; 2, F. T. Rawlin.

An extensive and intensified search is being made at home and abroad for plants that will help control soil erosion.

CANADA NEEDS LEADERSHIP

Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilson Addresses Kiwanians on "Canadian Citizenship"

"We, as Canadian citizens, have not made of Canada all we could have made. We are not as united, not as prosperous and not nearly as harmonious as we might be," declared Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilson in his address to the members of the Kiwanis Club at their monthly luncheon at the Empress Hotel this afternoon. He spoke on "Canadian Citizenship."

Dr. Wilson remarked that a great tendency to-day was for Canadians to look upon the critical period through which Canada is passing as something to be expected, due to the fact that other peoples of the world were going through similar conditions. This attitude, according to the speaker, was absolutely no excuse for Canada's present day condition.

"We, in Canada, have advantages and possibilities that other countries of the world do not possess," he said. Democracy was fighting a losing battle, said Dr. Wilson. It seemed to be a passing phase, and it was up to the British Empire to say whether or not democracy was to stay.

Dr. Wilson said the great tendency to-day was for the Canadian people to elect governments, let them run the country, and then to criticize them because they did not satisfy the people's selfish demands. The governments were not faultless, and many were open to criticism, but the common people should study the vital problems that confronted Canada to-day, or otherwise there would be a great deal of "dirty weather" ahead.

"To carry out this idea we must start with the boys and girls who are to be the great citizens of the Canada of to-morrow. Teach them to be good citizens—first and foremost, instead of wasting this all important formative period with such things as cube root extractions," he said.

All the problems that confronted the Dominion to-day had to be solved, the speaker said. It was no use talking to men who were starving and frenzied. "We must try to enter their consciousness and get their view point," he said.

One great trouble with Canada to-day was that everybody seemed to be looking here, there and everywhere for leaders.

"We do not lack for educated men and women in our Dominion at the present time, and it is up to this call of the Canadian people to take up the reins of leadership and make of Canada one united nation, the provinces of which will work together for greater harmony, greater prosperity, and a greater national spirit," he said.

Before the lecture the meeting stood in silent memory of Fred Landberg and W. J. Sheppard, two of the most valued members of the society who had passed away during the last month.

F. Turner was appointed to take Mr. Landberg's place on the executive.

Hon. Whitehead, president of the society, was in the chair, and reminded all members of the home garden competition, entries for which closed on July 11.

The winners of the monthly competitions were as follows:

Roses—1, H. O. Simpson; 2, F. T. Rawlin.
Roses, novices—1, W. A. McMullin; 2, N. Chamberlain.
Peas—1, G. Holt; 2, F. T. Rawlin.

An extensive and intensified search is being made at home and abroad for plants that will help control soil erosion.

Esquimalt Council Adjourns

When Acting Chairman's

Ruling Disputed

Esquimalt ratepayers who attended yesterday evening's meeting of the municipal council saw no business conducted but witnessed a scene which must have been unique in the history of the council, when the meeting was adjourned following the reading of the minutes of the last session, and with a long and full agenda still before it, for want of a chairman.

Reeve Alexander Lockley was prevented by illness from attending. The Reeve is recovering from a serious heart attack, and his condition does not yet permit of his appearing in public. By unanimous vote of the council, Councillor Albert Heald, senior member, was chosen to take his place.

When the vote for the adoption of the minutes was put, Councillor T. Harry Hodgson arose, asked the cancellation of a motion passed at the last meeting in connection with the purchase from C. M. Oliver and Company of a quantity of municipal bonds, and proceeded to give his reasons for so doing. In the course of his argument he criticised a bond purchase made last year.

Councillor Heald pointed out that Councillor Hodgson was out of order, as the question under consideration was only the adoption of the minutes. Councillor Hodgson, however, remained on his feet and continued to address the chair in a loud voice.

RESIGNS CHAIR

The chairman again pointed out that Councillor Hodgson was out of order, and when the councillor refused to accept his ruling, appealed to the rest of the council, and then vacated the chair and resumed his normal place at the table.

"I'm through, I don't care what you do now," he said.

For more than ten minutes Councillor Hodgson continued to shout his argument at the rest of the council, and entered into a violent argument with Councillor Heald over personalities.

On a motion put quietly during a lull in the shouting, by Councillor Philip B. Coling, seconded by Councillor David A. Henry, the council adjourned its meeting, with the accounts of two months, one by-law, a report on conditions in Skinner's flats, a report from the chairman of the works committee and thirteen communications of varying importance still unconsidered.

A very stylish player von Cramm has been steadily improving his game during the last two years.

Payne and Wilkinson Top Cricket Averages

Young Five C's Batsman and Victoria Club's Veteran Bowler Star in Respective Lists of Victoria and District League

George Payne, young member of one of the city's outstanding cricketing families, topped the Victoria and District Cricket Association batting standings up to the end of June, according to the averages released to-day by A. P. Moffatt, honorary secretary of the association.

In five innings Payne, who plays for the Five C's, put up 165 runs and carried his bat twice for an average of 33 runs for each of the three wickets he lost.

Reg Wenman, Incogs, still held the record for the highest individual score with 111. In five innings he had compiled a total of 199 and had retired once for an average of 49.75.

Eric Quantin, Five C's, was third in the standings with an average of 33.75 runs per inning and a highest innings score of 72.

George Wilkinson, Victoria, topped the bowling lists with twenty-one wickets in 44.2 over for 124 runs, giving him an average of 5.90 runs per wicket. Right behind him was H. A. Goward, also of the Victoria club, whose run allowance per wicket was 6.00. Eric Quantin, third in the bowling list, was also third in the bowling.

"Yes it is rather awful," Dr. Pearce replied.

"No moon, its aw full of bunkers," the Scot said.

As far as the earth's satellite was concerned, it would be a golfer's delight, the lecturer pointed out, as an ordinary public swing could drive well over a mile. This was possible because the force of gravity on the moon was only a sixth of that on the earth.

Tuberculosis causes more deaths between the ages of fourteen and forty-five years than any other disease.

Chicago, July 3 (Associated Press).—Hazen "Kiki" Guyler, veteran center fielder with Chicago Cubs, to-day was unconditionally released, said advisers received from Cincinnati where the Cubs are playing.

The vision hopped into the lead with the next match, another bantamweight battle, in which Tim Case, machinist from Darlington, England, with a devastating left, had all the better of the argument with Charley Villarela, a newspaper copy boy and holder of the intercity golden gloves bantam title.

Eddie Ryan, the "Peacham pulverizer," lived up to his reputation by pummeling his way to a decision over Johnny Cabello, New York Porto Rican, in a featherweight fight which put the British lead three victories to one.

Seventeen-year-old Fred Simpson, crack British lightweight and baby of the invading squad, outboxed Murray Kravits in three hectic rounds in the fifth match and put the visitors out in front, four bouts to one. Late in the third round, Simpson clipped Kravits with a right to the jaw and sent him down for a count of two.

Sedgwick Harvey, a negro bell boy, stopped what was fast taking on the appearance of an American rout, by knocking out Francis Frost, pride and joy of the British camp, in the second round of their lightweight duel.

James Lambert, another colored battler, checked in with the third American victory by outpointing Dave Lynch, a Surrey longshoreman, in a closely contested welterweight match.

The British also captured the honors in the middleweight division and increased their lead to two bouts when Alf Sawyer, London fireman, outpointed Johnny Williams, Brooklyn.

Tommy Griffin, pink-cheeked London schoolboy, sewed up the first international championship for Britain when he was awarded the decision over Don Scappatura, New York Italian, after the latter's left eye had been so badly cut Referee Tunney refused to permit him to come out for the third round.

With two games billed daily, the association hopes to stage most of its games at the Athletic Park, commencing July 6.

Eleven Months To Reach Moon

Astronomer Says Peden Would Take Long Time To Cycle to Earth's Satellite; Runner Longer Still; Moon Golfer's Delight

"Torchy Peden would take eleven months to reach the moon."

So said Dr. J. Pearce in a lecture yesterday evening on "Lunar Facts and Fancies" before the Victoria Horticultural Society in the City Hall.

"I hope Mr. Peden will not mind, but I have taken his average speed as thirty miles an hour. This I have worked out from his six day bicycle records. At this speed I have computed that he would take eleven months to traverse the 243,000 miles to the moon."

Dr. Pearce went on to say that Pheidippides the famous Greek runner, who ran the first marathon with the news of the Spartan victory at Thermopylae would take two years 268 days to reach the moon.

On seeing a picture of the crater on the moon, a Scot had said to him, "That's aw full," the astronomer recounted.

"Yes it is rather awful," Dr. Pearce replied.

"No moon, its aw full of bunkers," the Scot said.

As far as the earth's satellite was concerned, it would be a golfer's delight, the lecturer pointed out, as an ordinary public swing could drive well over a mile. This was possible because the force of gravity on the moon was only a sixth of that on the earth.

U.S. Lacrosse Team Goes East

Vancouver, July 3.—The all-star United States lacrosse team which lost the Lally Trophy and the international championship in three straight games with the all-star British Columbia team, left overnight for Trail, B.C., where they will play an exhibition game to-night.

The "All-Americans" will play in Nelson to-morrow night and in Calgary Saturday night. It is possible they will play in other Canadian cities as they continue their journey east but no definite arrangements have been made.

Dan McKenzie, New Westminster, B.C., president of the Canadian Amateur Lacrosse Association, is with the team.

WILL SPONSOR TENNIS MEET

Esquimaux Championships Start Saturday at the Hillcrest Courts

Dr. A. Poyntz, president of the Hillcrest Tennis Club, which will sponsor the Esquimaux tennis championships, announced yesterday that play in the annual tournament will open Saturday at the Hillcrest courts, and continue for the next two weeks.

Present indications point to a record entry list this year, and it is expected that well over last year's 150 entrants will be seen in action when the tournament gets under way. Entries, which will officially close to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock, may be filed with any member of the executive of the Hillcrest Tennis Club.

All last year's champions have signified their intention of defending their titles in the coming tournament. Jerry Bowden, who walked off with the men's singles honors, will attempt to make it two in a row, as will Miss Biddy Boyce, who took the Esquimaux championship in 1934. Miss Boyce appears to be in great form this season, and a few weeks ago she retained her women's singles title of the Hillcrest Club.

DOUBLES PLAY
Mrs. W. Erickson and her sister, Miss Boyce, will again team up in the women's division, and will attempt to retain their doubles trophy. These two players form the strongest doubles combination in the Hillcrest club, having won that distinction a few weeks ago when the club held its annual championships. Temple and Macgregor, men's doubles titleholders, are looked upon as serious threats in this division.

If Miss Boyce carries out her present intentions, she is in for a busy two weeks. Last year she competed in and won three titles in the annual meet, taking the women's singles, women's doubles and mixed doubles championships. Next week she will once again team up with her partner, Herb Davey, thus completing her triple threat. This combination dropped the finals in the Hillcrest championships a short time ago, so they are doubly determined to redeem themselves in the coming title meet.

Miss Lily Northam and Reg Wood, consolation winners in the women's and men's singles last year, are looked upon as sure starters again this year.

The committee in charge of the tournament is looking forward to the welcoming many young players this year, who will be getting their first taste of tournament play, in this one of the most popular tennis tournaments staged in Greater Victoria.

CUYLER RELEASED

English Fighters Register Victory

Defeat United States Ringsters in International Golden Gloves Tourney at New York 8 to 3; Four Canadian Boxers Gain Even Split

New York, July 3.—A high-class team of invading boxers from England yesterday evening won the first international golden gloves championship before 48,000 frenzied spectators in the Yankee Stadium.

With all fights completed, the point score read: England 8, United States 3.

A team of four Canadian boxers divided the spoils with United States opponents in preliminary bouts, winning two and losing two.

The deciding bout of the golden gloves series was the light-heavyweight battle between Tommy Griffin, London, and Don Scappatura, New York, formerly of North Bay, Ont., which was awarded the former when Referee Gene Tunney refused to permit the American to finish because of a badly cut eye.

The Canadians won victories in the 147 and 126-pound classes, but were served as guard of both in the 135 and 160-pound divisions.

WINNIPEG BOY WINS
Bill Marquardt, a nineteen-year-old candy manufacturer's helper of Winnipeg, put the visiting Canadians off to a good start by punching out a close decision over Ray Oliver, 126-pound negro, in a three-rounder.

Gaspere Abramo, Manhattan schoolboy, evened the count by beating Bob Carrington, Calgary printer's devil and Canadian A.A.U. lightweight champion, in another three-rounder. The New Yorker floored his man for a count of three with a stiff belt to the jaw in the first round.

Maurice Camyre, 147-pound truck driver of St. Vital, Man., and Canada's amateur welterweight king, got the decision over Pete Caracello, Brooklyn fruit dealer, in a close-range slugfest match that had the rapidly filling stands agog. Things rocked along on pretty even terms until the third, when the Canadian uncorked a heavy right to the head that sent Caracello spinning half-way across the ring.

The last of the four three-round events was the only one to produce a knockout. In this, Walter Franklin, London, Ont., holder of three district middleweight titles, was so badly summaled by Eddie Steele that the fight was stopped after two minutes sixteen seconds of milling in the third round to give the United States negro a technical kayo.

Steele unleashed a series of battering rights to floor Franklin four times for counts of from two to five before the referee intervened.

The stands roared their approval of the fourteen clean-cut British youngsters as they paraded around the huge ball field behind a band of Scottish Highlanders before the fights started. A squad of British war veterans served as guard of honor. Then followed another band of the Canadian and American national anthems, and the fistfuffs were on.

All the championship bouts were three rounds.

Little George Coyle, New York theatre usher born in Scotland, put the United States one up by taking a fast opening tilt from Jackie Pottinger, Cardiff, Wales, Welsh flyweight champion.

Another Welshman, Bert Barnes, a Cardiff laborer, gave the British their first victory, winning the decision over Pete Scalzo, New York schoolboy.

BRITISH IN LEAD
The visitors hopped into the lead with the next match, another bantamweight battle, in which Tim Case, machinist from Darlington, England, with a devastating left, had all the better of the argument with Charley Villarela, a newspaper copy boy and holder of the intercity golden gloves bantam title.

Eddie Ryan, the "Peacham pulverizer," lived up to his reputation by pummeling his way to a decision over Johnny Cabello, New York Porto Rican, in a featherweight fight which put the British lead three victories to one.

Seventeen-year-old Fred Simpson, crack British lightweight and baby of the invading squad, outboxed Murray Kravits in three hectic rounds in the fifth match and put the visitors out in front, four bouts to one. ### FIRES HALTED BY SHOWERS

Forest Outbreaks in Province Last Week Totaled Twenty-seven

Another period of cool and showery weather cut down the forest fire toll in British Columbia last week with the result that only twenty-seven outbreaks were reported from all over the province, only half as many as in the corresponding week of last year.

The Vancouver forest district, which includes Vancouver Island, had only six fires during the week compared with seventeen last year. However, the total for the year so far in this district is 104 against 98 in 1934.

Fires recorded to date in the province aggregate 380 compared with 371 at this time last year and 189 in 1933.

The plan was started when the St. Iniquity arrived this morning. Her schedule requires Miss Grant to meet five boats daily. Her attendants distribute a native-grown flower to the women passengers disembarking, while the men are given a list of entertainments for the week here.

A vote of thanks was passed to the chief of the Songhees tribe for the use of the grounds, the chief being introduced to the assembled guests. The crowd joined in a sing-song at the close.

Poor Start For Fishing Season

Bad Weather and Small Catches Reported to Government

The B.C. salmon fishery season, opening July 1, started poorly, with small catches in most areas and particularly bad weather hampering the fishermen, according to reports reaching the Department of Fisheries here.

At Rivers Inlet the boats averaged three fish each with a high boat of twelve. At Smith's Inlet the average was three per boat and high boat got five. In the Skeena River the average was eleven and in the Neas River twelve.

There were no fish reported on the West Coast but it is a little early yet for that area.

Fishcatchers have not shown up yet on the West Coast and there is some difficulty there about getting the fishermen to go out. They are asking $2.50 a ton for fish and the plants are expected to get together shortly.

WOULD DIVERT KENYA TRAVEL

James Butterfield of Nairobi Says Canadian Route Has Advantages

When James Butterfield, managing director of the Buret Tea Company Ltd., of Kenya, East Africa, gets back to Nairobi he proposes to inaugurate a newspaper campaign with the object of inducing residents of the colony returning to England on furlough to travel home via Canada in preference to the customary route via the Suez Canal.

He arrived here to-day with Mrs. Butterfield aboard the Empress of Canada.

"I am glad we decided to travel by way of Canada. We are very much impressed by our first glimpse of the country, and hope to see a great deal of it before we sail for England," said Mr. Butterfield, in an interview at the Empress Hotel.

ABOUT SAME TIME

"I don't see why more people don't travel from Africa by way of the Indian and Pacific Oceans and through Canada when visiting the homeland," he said. "This is a much more interesting route, and the time taken in traveling is much the same. It takes about thirty-two days to make the trip via Canada, whereas it takes twenty-six days to make the trip via the Suez."

"The Europeans in Kenya go home every three years, and the travel movement is surprisingly large."

"Since leaving the Orient I have been particularly impressed by the splendid services maintained by the Canadian Pacific Railway, and my wife and I are looking forward to our stay in Canada."

Mr. and Mrs. Butterfield will remain in Victoria until Friday, when they will go on to Vancouver, and later plan to stay at Lake Louise and Banff.

TEA SOLD HERE

The grown in Kenya is sold in Canada, Brazil, Tuck and Company of Vancouver being the agents for the Buret Tea Company. It was stated by Mr. Butterfield, the company of which he is the managing director owns 1,200 acres of tea plantations in Kenya, and produces 800,000 pounds of tea annually. The output this year is expected to be 1,000,000 pounds. The bulk of the crop is sent to the London market.

EPIDEMIC OF MEASLES HERE

Outbreak Continues With 120 Cases During June and Nine During Week

An epidemic of measles, 120 cases of which were reported during June, was still continuing this week, according to word from the city health department. Nine new cases have been reported during the week and no immediate abatement is expected.

Up to May only four or five cases had been reported this year. During that month, however, nineteen more came in and the epidemic reached a higher point during June.

In their efforts to combat the illness the department has engaged a special isolation nurse who has been making repeated visits to homes under quarantine.

The appointment was made after a consultation with the school board, representatives of the city health committee, including its chairman, Ald. J. D. Hunter, and Dr. Richard Felton, city medical health officer.

NOT SERIOUS

The disease is not of a serious nature, Dr. Felton stated to-day. Nor is it followed by any serious complications.

The doctor, along with other medical men in the city, have found some satisfaction in the growing public interest in mild infectious diseases. Never before have the citizens responded to appeals for co-operation in combating them as they have recently, Dr. Felton stated.

FUNERAL IN VANCOUVER

Funeral services for Mrs. Mabel Claire Dockrill, who passed away yesterday at the Jubilee Hospital, will be held to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in Center and Hanna's Funeral Chapel, Vancouver. Interment will be in the mainland city.

WANT ROADBED
BRIDLE PATH

In an effort to secure more riding trails around Victoria, efforts are being made to have the old C.N.R. Patricia Bay and Sidney line transformed into a bridle path.

Headed by Alderman John A. Worthington, prominent local citizens are hoping to see the roadbed left in a condition which would be suitable for horsemen after the rails have been torn up.

VANDERBILT RULING

New York, July 3.—The appellate division of Supreme Court to-day unanimously upheld the decision of Justice John F. Carew which awarded the custody of eleven-year-old Gloria Vanderbilt to Mrs. Gertrude Whitney, her paternal aunt.

Funeral Thursday Of John F. Bates

Mr. Bates was born in England sixty-six years ago, and had resided here since 1928. He is survived by his widow, two daughters, Mrs. C. Page in England, and Miss Gertrude Bates at home, and one son, Frederick Albert, at home.

STRIKING CREW BEFORE COURT

Hearing of Men From Ss. Southholm Opens; Officers Tell Circumstances

Ten members of the crew of the Frank Waterhouse and Company's Ss. Southholm, who dropped work while loading the ship, at the Empire Cannery wharf in Esquimalt on June 17, were arraigned before Magistrate Jay in Provincial Police Court this morning. They were charged with failing to obey the lawful command of superior officers.

In conjunction with the case a second charge has been laid against Patrick Driscoll, who is alleged to have incited the men to strike. Those charged with failing to obey orders are: C. Morten, P. N. Phillips, L. Stephens, H. Child, Richard Walters, R. Milburn, J. C. Davidson, P. Donnelly, H. Baxter and T. Cahill.

A. J. Patton appeared for the defence with Sgt. Richard Harvey for the prosecution, assisted by Harry J. Davis for the company.

The morning's hearing was taken up with evidence of the three officers of the ship, who told of the crew's strike, the captain attributing it to Driscoll.

Capt. R. E. Bennett, 63 Linden Avenue, testified the crew had been engaged in loading cans at the wharf on June 17. There were six men working the cargo, and three in the engine-room. Chief Officer A. W. Ogden was in charge.

SIGNED AT SEA

All members of the crew had been articulated to the ship under a new agreement which was signed at sea May 17, this year, the captain said. The former agreement had expired and the men had transferred to the new articles while enroute.

On the day in question the men had worked until midday, when they left for lunch. They returned at 12.30 and at 12.40 o'clock refused to do any more work. The captain then sent for the crew to come before him and told them that if they meant life to refuse duty.

"Their union delegate, Driscoll, sort of laughed in my face and said, 'it's all right boys, I'll have you out on bail in twenty minutes,'" the captain testified.

With the consent of the men the captain then wrote in the ship's log that the men had been called out collectively by Mr. Driscoll, representing their union, he said.

REFUSED TO SIGN

When he had written this the captain testified he asked the men to sign. They refused to do so, including Driscoll. He said the ship had been delayed two days by the strike.

In cross-examination by Mr. Patton, Capt. Bennett stated when the men had been called out they had said they would let him know their decision after he had pleaded with them to remain. In the meantime he had instructions from Vancouver to prosecute and later his chief officer received a phone call to say the men were not coming back.

Mr. Patton questioned the right of the captain to sign the men's signatures to the new articles, as regulations required the signatures to be written in the presence of the shipping master or a credible witness. The captain stated this was overcome by the initialing of the articles by the shipping master in Vancouver when they were given him.

JOINED OTHERS

Corroborative evidence of the strike was given by Chief Officer Ogden. Davidson had not been present when the strike was called, witness testified, and later when he returned to the ship after a short leave, the chief officer had asked him whether he was through and Davidson had replied he was going with the rest of the men.

Alexander W. Charlton, chief engineer, testified Cahill, Donnelly and Baxter, who were under his orders, had also gone with the rest of the men and had been present in the saloon during the interview with the captain.

The hearing resumed this afternoon.

Garden Survey Is Completed

Forty Gardens Selected; Final Judging in Hands of General Public

The first garden survey of Greater Victoria has just been completed. Throughout June the various committees have been hard at work going over every street in their district, selecting the gardens which appeared the most beautiful to the casual passerby. With the selection of the five gardens in the northwest corner of the city, their work has been finished and the forty gardens in the eight districts into which Victoria, Esquimalt, Saanich and Oak Bay have been divided, have been chosen.

Now the Victoria Horticultural Society, under whose auspices this public-spirited work has been conducted, invites the general public to be the final judges in this competition. Citizens will select the best garden in their district by means of a ballot attached to each ticket to the society's summer show which will be held in the Willows on July 26 and 27.

All the citizens have to do is to take a look at each of the five gardens selected in their district and mark down on his ballot which they think is the most beautiful. This decision will be final.

Besides fostering a movement to beautify the city, the Victoria Horticultural Society has given the opportunity to tourists and visitors to the city as well as residents, to see forty of the best gardens in the city. ## COMEDY PLAY AT QUALICUM

Theatre Opens Saturday With Montgomery's, "Nothing But the Truth"

Arriving at Qualicum Beach last Saturday, the Summer Theatre Company, has taken up residence in a house on the beach and commenced rehearsals for their first production, which will be presented to the Qualicum Beach audience on Saturday evening at 8.40 o'clock. The company will stage all its plays in the Qualicum Beach Community Hall.

The appearance of the company at the well-known resort has aroused considerable interest among the summer residents, who are looking forward to this unusual form of entertainment.

Although a number of summer theatre centres have been established in various parts of the eastern United States, no attempt has been made up to the present to start the movement in Canada, so the organization now in residence at Qualicum is the first of its kind in the Dominion.

Miss Margaret Powlett, business manager of the company, stated on her arrival at Qualicum, that the object of the Summer Theatre was not to make money, but to offer to the summer residents a form of light dramatic entertainment. Their productions will take the form of light comedies, which have been chosen to fit in with the holiday spirit and the aim of the company. They plan to play at Qualicum Beach through July, and if such support warrants, may extend their visit into August.

Members of the company include a number of the U.B.C. Players who are already well known to island residents, and several Victorians.

FAVORITES IN NET VICTORIES

Defending Titledists Advance As Interior Championships Get Started

Kelowna, July 3.—Kelowna's thirteenth annual interior of British Columbia tennis championships, delayed by rain Monday, swung into its stride in brilliant sunshine yesterday as favored players fought their way into second-round berths.

Little opposition was forthcoming for seeded men and women performers, the three Milnes, Doug Cameron and Ed Ford, from Vancouver, chalking up straight-set wins all down the line.

Howard Langille, stylish Seattle court ace, former winner of this tournament, also played impressively in both doubles and singles.

In his traditional match with the courageous veteran, Billy Metcalfe, pillar of the Kelowna Tennis Club and this annual tournament, Howard came out much better than in previous years, losing only three games, where he has often dropped three or four.

CHAMP ADVANCES
Cameron, defending title-holder, was wild in spots as he dropped four games in each of two sets to P. Dewdney.

Colin Milne, seeded in the opposite bracket, went through C. Pease without the loss of a game, while Ed Ford beat E. Winter almost as handily. Harold McLean trimmed W. B. Bredin in short order, bringing forth recollections of former tournament triumphs.

Jean and Susie Milne, seeded one and two in the women's singles, lost only four games apiece in their matches. Margaret Taylor, Canadian badminton champion, put on a marathon-tussle with Mrs. C. Smart, winning finally by 4-6, 8-6, 6-3.

Langille, paired with Colin Milne in the mixed doubles, took a threat for all these championships. Cameron, winner of the doubles with Ron Sidaway last year, is teamed with Ed Ford.

Detailed results follow: Men's singles, D. Cameron beat P. Dewdney, 6-4, 6-4; L. Freeman beat C. Dore, 3-6, 6-4, 6-4; H. McLean beat W. Bredin, 6-1, 6-1; A. M. Hodgins beat H. Lawson, 6-2, 6-1.

Continuing his victorious march in defense of the title he won last year, Ross "Bud" Hocking, moved a notch closer to the championship when he defeated W. Dunbar in straight sets by scores of 6-2, 6-4. In the other singles match completed yesterday, H. T. Matson had very little trouble stroking his way to victory over A. G. Tisdale, 6-3, 6-1. These two wins place Hocking and Matson in the quarter-finals in the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club's championship meet that is being conducted at the Fort Street courts.

The three women's singles matches produced some exciting tennis, as two of them went to extra sets. Looked upon as an almost sure winner, Miss A. Tremayne dropped a three-set match to Miss Peggy Horne. Miss Horne took the first set rather handily at 6-3. Her opponent evened up the match by taking the second set 6-4, after some sparkling play, only to have Miss Horne turn around and, with some beautiful placements, capture the third set and match 6-3.

Miss K. Grogan played smart tennis in taking the first set from Mrs. H. T. Goodland 6-4. The second set was bitterly contested until Mrs. Goodland finally broke through her opponent's service to capture the set 7-5. The third and final set went to Mrs. Goodland 6-4. Miss G. McCall was eliminated from championship play as she bowed to the superior play of Miss M. Philippon 6-3, 6-3.

Yesterday's results follow:

WHAT IS THE WORST THING that a mother can do to her child? Spoiling it. Making it feel that it must have its own way and whatever it wants, regardless of the rights and comforts of others. Indulging its every whim and caprice.

The mother who spoils her children does them the deadliest wrong that one human being can do another, for she absolutely unfit them for life. Most of the failures in the world are the men and women who were spoiled children. Mother always removed the crumpled rose leaf from under their forty mattresses of ease and they expected existence to be self-padded for them the way she did it.

She gave them everything they wanted on a silver salver and it never occurred to them that they would have to work and struggle to get their desires. She fed them on cake. So when they found out that they would have to toil and sweat to get even bread, and that nobody cared a hoot for their comfort or pleasure, they simply couldn't stand the gaff. They couldn't endure hardships. Mother's spoiling had turned them into slackers and quitters.

Nine-tenths of the divorces are the direct result of Mother's spoiling. Mother brings up Johnny to think that he is the kingpin of the universe and that all a woman is good for is to minister to his comfort and pleasure. She does all the hard chores around the house so he will be free to play with the boys. She draws his bath. She picks the seeds out of his jam. She blacks his shoes. She waits on him hand and foot. She takes all of his impudence without ever answering back.

In time Johnny grows up and gets married, and when he tries his spoiled-child tactics on his wife and treats her as he did his mother she hauls him into the divorce court.

The same thing happens when Mother spoils Mamie. While Mamie is still in the cradle Mother begins crawling over her with a silver salver. She gives her everything she craves for, even if she knows it will hurt her. She turns her into a little tyrant before whom the whole household cringes. She never crosses Mamie's will. She wears shabby clothes that Mamie may have finery and walks so that Mamie may have the use of the automobile.

Mamie also grows up and marries, and when she finds out that her husband won't spoil her as her mother did and that he expects her to fulfill the responsibilities of marriage, she packs her trunk and hikes out to Reno. It is the spoiled boys and girls who get married who keep the divorce courts busy.

Another great wrong that mothers do their children is in not disciplining them when they are little and teaching them self-control.

Who are the drunkards but the men and women who were not taught to control their appetites as children? Who are the murderers but those who were never taught to control their passions? Who are the thieves and the women of the street but those who were never taught to do without the things they wanted until they could get them honestly? Who are the down-and-outers but those who as children were permitted to give up every task as soon as they tired of it, and were never taught to carry on until they had finished whatever they had begun?

Mothers have an optimistic theory that it isn't necessary to teach children to control themselves, or to be brave, or unselfish, or obedient because when they are grown a miracle will occur that will turn little hellions into adult angels. Of course, it never happens.

The grouchy man who can never get along with anybody in business and who makes his wife's life a hell on earth was the little boy who was permitted to be surly and rude around home. The wild girl who mocks at Mother's efforts to restrain her was the little girl Mother never taught to behave. The peevish, fretful, discontented cowards who sit down and wall over their fate are the men and women whom Mother never taught to get up and laugh when they stubbed their toes and bumped their noses as babies. The disrespectful sons and daughters who show their parents no consideration are the children Mother allowed to talk back to her.

Another great wrong that mothers do children is in being too possessive. They want to monopolize their children. Often they don't want even the children's fathers to have any part in the youngsters. They want their children to look to them for everything and to be rubber-stamps of themselves.

A mother will try to make her child just what she is and will deny it any life of its own whatever. She will not leave it free to follow its own tastes and desires in choosing a career and dooms it to failure because she forces it away from its natural bent. Many mothers are so possessive that they are not willing to have their children marry, and, when they do, they often try to break up their homes.

And the sad part about these terrible things that mothers often do to their children is that they are done in love, and because the mother is so obsessed by her passion for her child that she cannot see what she is doing to it.

Uncle Wiggly's Fourth of July

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Though the humming bird had taken some of Uncle Wiggly's ear cotton and though the rabbit gnat had given some to his wife and Nurse Jane to put in their ears so they wouldn't hear the Fourth of July noise, the rabbit gentleman still had plenty of the stuff left for himself.

"Though I wouldn't, if I were you, Wiggly," his wife said to him, "I wouldn't stick cotton in my ears until the noise starts."

"I'll take your advice," said Uncle Wiggly. "The Bob Cat nearly sneaked up on me when I had cotton in my ears yesterday for practice, as I was hopping through a field. If it hadn't been that the humming bird and Nurse Jane had given me some, I wouldn't have known the noise until the noise started."

So came the day before the Fourth of July, and even the noise who could not wait for the right time began shooting off fireworks, firing guns and banging off torpedoes.

"I guess I'll have to start putting cotton in my ears now," said Uncle Wiggly to his wife.

COULDN'T WAIT FOR FOURTH

"Oh, wait until tomorrow, the real Fourth," she advised. "This noise will soon stop."

And it did. Though, as it grew dark, some skyrockets and some Roman candles, sent up by others who couldn't wait, made streaks of fire in the sky. Uncle Wiggly liked fireworks if they didn't make too much noise. But the big banging bombs made him jump like a pussy cat when she heard a dog bark.

Knowing the danger of burns from fireworks and torpedoes and sometimes even from paper caps in toy pistols, Uncle Wiggly never let his bunny boys and girls have any of these things. It seemed very hard to them and they weren't very happy when they knew that other children were going to have big cannon crackers and big torpedoes and other things with which to celebrate the day.

"But safety first is my idea of Fourth of July," said Uncle Wiggly, and so it went. When morning came the first thing the rabbit gentleman and his wife and Nurse Jane did was to stuff cotton in their ears. Then they were ready for all the noise that could sound.

And there was plenty of noise made by the bunny boys and girls. Uncle Wiggly got them hundreds of paper bags, and when these were blown into a firecracker they burst with a sound like a firecracker. "And, best of all, there's no danger of burns," said Uncle Wiggly.

So his bunny boys burst paper bags and made lots of noise which their father, mother and Nurse Jane didn't hear because of the cotton in their ears.

POCKET IN WOODS

"But making noise isn't all the fun you are to have on Fourth of July," said Uncle Wiggly to the children when they were tired, after a while, of banging the bags. "We are to have a picnic in the woods. There'll be ice cream and cake and lemonade and candy."

"Oh, Hurray! Hurray!" cheered the rabbit boys and girls. Uncle Wiggly took the cotton out so he could hear their happy voices. Then came the picnic in the woods. And because in other places than around the hollow where Uncle Wiggly many firecrackers were shot off, the bag

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel."

THURSDAY, JULY 4, 1935

Benevolent aspects rule the day, although adverse planetary aspects are active, according to astrology. It is a very unwise and unconstructive attitude should be disseminated.

Women to-day are well directed by the stars. They will think more clearly than men regarding certain problems, astrologers fear for their own safety and theories to public affairs.

This is an auspicious day for lawyers and leaders in public opinion. Even legislators will gain praise under this direction of the stars which awaken good feeling. Patriotism will be manifested in many astonishing ways and there may be much waste effort in propaganda that has evil intent.

There is to be a sharp alignment dividing conservative and radical thinkers as the old economic order changes despite efforts to restore long-established practices and conditions. Brutal crimes, many fires and acts of desperation are predicted as the summer wanes.

Great heat wave in France and Germany may be detrimental to many tourist plans. England also may experience weather freaks and soaring thermometers may be the rule.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of good fortune that brings much pleasure and many friends. Love will come to the young and those not so young.

Children born on this day probably will be fond of whatever comes to the realm of art. Subjects of this sign may gain deservedly a special kind of fame.

Nathaniel Hawthorne, noted author, was born on this day, 1804. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Joseph Pennell, artist, 1868; Emma Juch, opera singer, 1887; and George Julian Selinger, sculptor, 1897.
